WILL MAKE NO LEGAL CONTEST.

Comptroller Grout Not to Institute Proceedings in the Courts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Comptroller Grout has finally decided not to make a legal contest to keep his name on the fusion ticket as a candidate for re-election to the position which he now fills. He made public a brief statement today, in which he declared that while he considered the action of the Republican city convention in withdrawing him as a candidate to be illegal he would not institute any proceedings in the courts.

VALUABLE DIAMONDS DESTROYED.

Dr. Canfield's Residence on Mount Hope Bay Burned to the Ground.

BRISTOL, Oct. 12.—The residence of Dr. William C. Canfield, situated on the shore of Mount Hope bay in the estate of the Hopeworth sanitarium, was burned to the ground today, resulting in a loss of over $12,000. The patients in the sanitarium came to the rescue and saved a small portion of the furniture, but a collection of stamps valued at $2,000, and diamonds worth several thousand dollars belonging to Mrs. Canfield, were burned. The flames spread with great rapidity and as there was no fire fighting apparatus available, the building was soon reduced to a mass of ruins. The house was valued at $8,000, on which there was $5,000 insurance. An electric light wire is thought to have started the blaze.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 12.—Word was received here today that President Henry C. Rouse, of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad was severely injured yesterday afternoon at his summer home, "The Ramparts," on Eastern Point, East Gloucester. Mr. Rouse was directing the efforts of men who were trying to save some boats and a landing float which the heavy sea had parted from their moorings, when he was hit by a rope and thrown heavily on the rocks. Mr. Rouse sustained a dislocation of the left arm and other injuries.

NO DECISION REACHED TODAY.

Alaskan Boundary Commissioners Meet in Secret Session.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The last stage of the Alaskan boundary arbitration began this morning at the foreign office, when the commissioners met in secret session to consider their verdict. No decision is expected today.

While nothing can be known definitely, a very hopeful feeling prevails in American circles. A significant reflex of this appears in today's Times. Dealing with the difficulties encountered in the selection of a new British ambassador to the United States, and the irritation which he would have to face both in Canada and the United States if the Alaskan tribunal broke up with a disagreement, the Times says:

"We rejoice to say that there is believed to be something more than a possibility that award may be agreed upon; or, rather, that seven questions may be so answered as to end the matter."

The commissioners will sit daily from 11 until 1:30, when they will adjourn for lunch, and will resume their deliberations at 2, adjourning for the day at 4, until a decision is reached.

The commissioners adjourned at 4:50 o'clock without having reached a decision.

CAUSED BY EASTERN SITUATION.

Weak Opening on the London Stock Exchange Today.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Some anxiety regarding the course of events in the Far East caused a weak opening on the stock exchange today, consols being marked down to ¼ point. The feature was the dealings in foreign government securities. There was a decline of one point in Japanese 5 per cents and three quarters of a point in Japanese 4 per cents. Americans were affected by the general depression here as well as by the reports of trouble among the industrial trusts. They went down one half, to one point.

ATTACKED BY HEAD HUNTERS.

Lieutenant Velasquez and 30 Men Kill 53 of the Enemy.

MANILA, Oct. 12.—Lieutenant Velasquez and 30 men of the constabulary were attacked recently by 500 head hunters of Neuva Viscaya, and lost two men after killing 53 and wounding a large number of the head hunters. The enemy were armed with rifles and bolos. The constabulary under command of Velasquez are reported to be suffering from a disease similar to cholera.

WASHINGTON KNOWS OF NO ACT OF WAR.

Negotiations in Progress Between Russia and Japan.

Mr. Takahira Says There Is No Cause to be Anxious.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Aside from extensive military preparations by both nations, the Japanese legation here is not advised that either Russia or Japan has as yet committed any act of war. The Japanese minister is being kept constantly advised by cablegrams from Tokio of the situation, and realizing its gravity he is moving with great caution. The negotiations between Russia and Japan according to his advices are still in progress, and there is hope of a diplomatic settlement of the questions at issue.

The minister today authorized the Associated Press to make the following statement: "His attention having been called to a certain unauthorized statement attributed to him that the public utterances of the Japanese people are all in favor of war with Russia, Mr. Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, states that while there is some disquiet due to the unsettled state of affairs which has existed so long in the Far East, it seems that it has been aggravated more recently by the unfounded rumors regarding military and naval movements in certain quarters, but, in his judgment, the intelligent Japanese have been generally calm and collected up to the present juncture, as they know that the matter has been for some time in the hands of responsible parties of Japan and Russia, and that they have been negotiating with a view to arriving at an understanding between them. For his own part, Mr. Takahira said he hoped for the best, because the situation is not without an indication so far that the Russian government is candidly disposed for a settlement of the question with Japan, and therefore so long as the negotiations are proceeding with reasonable prospect of a result honorable to Japan there is no reason to be over-anxious now."

The representatives of this government, and diplomats of Russia, Japan and China have not advised the State Department regarding the recent developments and rumors of war over Manchuria. As has often been pointed out, the United States has no cause of protest because Russia has failed to keep her pledges that she would evacuate Manchuria October 8. The interest of the United States in Manchuria is covered by the recent treaty between China and this country. If Manchuria becomes annexed to Russia or continues under Russian control the United States will insist that the provisions of the treaty be carried out, especially as Russia assented to its provisions, previous to its being signed.

It is believed that there is an understanding between Germany and Russia in regard to the operations in Manchuria, and that no protest, nor even disapproval, will be expressed by Germany over any course Russia may pursue in China. France is apparently disinterested, and Great Britain is thought to be the only country that is vitally interested and opposed to the course of Russia in Manchuria.

CAUSES DISQUIET IN ENGLAND.

Report That Hostilities are Imminent Between Russia and Japan.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Deprecating the rumors of a Japanese ultimatum to Russia, Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, in an interview today, said he had no information of such a character, adding that had Japan taken this action, "the Anglo-Chinese treaty would necessitate my being immediately notified," so that he might inform the British government.

The foreign office says it has no confirmation of the reports of Japanese military movements at Masanpho.

Japan has a special settlement, covering 650 acres, at Chapekpo, near Masanpho, granted to her by Corea in November, 1901, as an offset to the settlement at Masanpho previously granted to Russia by Corea.

In spite of the reassuring statements of the foreign office and Baron Hayashi, the frequent reiteration that hostilities between Russia and Japan are imminent, the mysterious movements of the Russian and Japanese fleets, and the excited state of public opinion in Japan are beginning to cause disquiet in Great Britain, which, by reason of her alliance with Japan, is intimately concerned in any action which the latter may take in the Far East. Only the most sanguine persons believe that in the event of hostilities they could be kept within the limits which would free Great Britain from her obligation to support her Japanese ally. Even Baron Huyashi, who heretofore has ridiculed all suggestion of war, is not so optimistic oday. Indirectly he admits the possibility of war, by expressing the hope that in the event of a crisis Japan will have the active sympathy of her ally, Great Britain.

While refusing to credit the reports of an ultimatum having been delivered, Baron Hayashi admitted that the diplomatic situation had changed since last Thursday, and that developments may have arisen from the failure of the Russians to fulfil their engagement to evacuate Manchuria on that date. He, however, had heard nothing from his government on the subject.

Che-Foo, the source of the latest alarming news, is several hundred miles from Masanpho, so the reports of Japanese military movements there are likely to be a repetition of similar stories circulated last week, which later accounts minimized.

REACH A CRISIS.

Relations Between Japan and Russia so Regarded in Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The relations between Japan and Russia have reached a crisis, according to the official view here. The exact nature of the diplomatic exchanges between the two governments that brought out the present tensity appears to be unknown at the legations of the two countries here or at the German legations at St. Petersburg and Tokio, although it is understood that Great Britain is privy to Japan's movements.

DECLARATION OF WAR EXPECTED.

Report That the Japanese Have Occupied Masanpho.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—A despatch from Shanghai to the Frankfurter Zeitung from Chee Foo to the effect that the states that news has reached there Japanese have occupied Masanpho, and that an official declaration of war is expected.

MILITARY AND NAVAL STRENGTH

St. Petersburg Papers Publish Reviews About Japan's Condition.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 12.—Significance is attached here to the fact that the Official Messenger and the Journal de St. Petersburg print the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger's despatch relating to the movement of the Russian fleet and the possible coincident landing of Russian and Japanese troops in different parts of Corea. Several newspapers publish reviews of Japan's military and naval strength.

The cancellation of the projected visit of the Czar to Rome is said to be due to the attitude of the Italian socialist press and socialist deputies.

THE TILLMAN TRIAL.

Only Four of Counsel for Defense to Address the Jury.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 12.—When the trial of J. H. Tillman was resumed today counsel agreed to alternate in addressing the jury, counsel for the defense announcing that but four of their number would speak. Solicitor Thurmond began the opening address to the jury, entering upon a review of the testimony adduced by the state.

The solicitor said that the editorials in the State were before the jury to show the feelings existing between the defendan and Gonzales. He discussed the testimony of the principal witnesses for the state in comparison with that of witnesses for the defense, contending for the showing made by the state. He concluded before noon.

SEVEN KILLED AND 33 HURT.

Result of Collision Between Spanish Socialists and Clericals.

BILBAO, Spain, Oct. 12.—As a result of the collision yesterday between socialists engaged in a demonstration and a body of clericals seven persons were killed and 33 wounded, some being mortally injured, including the manager of the Pueblo, a newspaper. Among the wounded are Superior Louis Dautier of the Christian Brothers Schools. Revolvers were fired from the Catholic Club and from the windows of the Church of St. Nicholas. The vicar of that church was arrested on the charge of shooting several socialists, and a number of other priests were arrested, charged with instigating riots. During the fighting the anti-clericals threw a priest into the river.

TWO BUILDINGS BURNED.

Business Section of Hardwick, Vt., Threatened by Fire.

HARDWICK, Vt., Oct. 12.—A fire which caused losses placed at $35,000 broke out in this town today, and although two wooden business blocks were burned, at one time the business section was seriously threatened. The blocks destroyed were owned by Isaac P. Titus, and one of them was occupied by Mr. Titus for sale and storing of general merchandise. The other was occupied by the Hardwick Hardware Company. About one half the goods in the building occupied by Mr. Titus were saved, but all the property of the Hardwick company was burned.

The fire started from some unknown cause on the ground floor of the Hardware company's building, and spread quickly to the various floors, of which there were three. A strong wind was blowing, and the flames soon communicated with the Titus block, only a few feet away. A general alarm was sounded, and the entire fire fighting force of the town was soon engaged in trying to check the course of the fire. Hundreds of the residents assisted in pouring water from buckets on the near-by structures, and thus aided the firemen materially in preventing a more disastrous fire. Both of Mr. Titus's buildings were burned.

The Hardwick Hardware Company places its loss at $9,000, with one half insured. The loss of Mr. Titus on merchandise is $5,000, partly insured. The loss on the two buildings is about $10,000 on each, with no insurance.

BOTH CREWS SAVED.

Two Wrecks Occurred Last Week Off the Southern Coast.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 12.—Two more wrecks that occurred in the hurricane of last week were revealed today when the first news in almost a week was received from the North Carolina coast over the government wires. Three-masted schooner J. B. Holden, lumber-laden, from Norfolk, is a total loss near Washwods life saving station, and three-masted schooner Mabel Rose pounded to pieces on the shoal off Pauligamuel's Hill, 20 miles south of Currituck. Both crews were saved. The Holden was of 410 tons and the Rose of 300.

Railroads Resume Their Usual Train Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Railroads terminating in Jersey City have resumed their usual passenger train service schedules, except the local service on the main line of the Erie. Local traffic on the Lackawanna railroad, which was interrupted by the flood, has about resumed normal conditions.

Boston-Pittsburg Game Postponed.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The Boston-Pittsburg base ball game scheduled to be played here today in the championship series was postponed until tomorrow on account of rain.

Call for Extra Session of Congress to be Issued October 20.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—It was announced today that the call for the extraordinary session of Congress to meet November 9 will be issued probably on the twentieth instant.

HOMELESS WITHOUT FOOD OR SHELTER.

Two Wards of Paterson Entirely Under Water.

Conservative Estimate of Damage Placed at $2,000,000.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 12.—The people of this unfortunate city are beginning to realize the extent of the great flood which began last Friday. Nearly two entire wards of the city, taking in the manufacturing section, have been under water since Friday. This morning thousands of men, women and children employed in different mills and factories could not go to work on account of the numerous plants closed. A great many of these people have also been driven from their homes and have neither food nor shelter. The heaviest damage in Paterson was to the manufacturers. At present it is impossible to give an accurate idea of the total loss, but conservative estimates are about $2,000,000.

The police and firemen have been steadily engaged since Saturday morning in the work of rescuing families from the upper floors or the roofs of their houses in the flooded district, and the work is still going on.

Today the water in the river continued to fall, and there did not seem to be any chance of further damage being done unless another severe storm should set in.

The health authorities have a difficult task before them in devising means to prevent an epidemic of sickness in the flooded section. The people who were forced to leave their homes will not be allowed to return until the districts are in a sanitary condition.

FLOOD CONDITIONS IMPROVED.

Total Loss in Passaic, N. J., Estimated at About $2,000,000.

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 12.—The flood conditions in this city and vicinity were considerably improved today. All danger of a break at the Dundee dam is now thought to be past. Wallington is still under water. 400 or 500 residents being sheltered in the town hall and school buildings at Passaic and several hundreds in schools at Wallington.

The total loss from the flood in this city is estimated at about $2,000,000, without any insurance. This does not include the loss to workmen who are thrown out of employment temporarily or the loss sustained by manufacturers by the interruption to business.

At Duttonville 50 or more houses were washed from their foundations and many overturned and wrecked. The Erie railroad bridge is now out of danger, but a big washout at Clifton blocks all traffic. The railroad company is rigging up a temporary trestle, however, and traffic may possibly be resumed by tonight.

Passaic River Falling and All Danger Past.

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 12.—The Passaic river was falling here today and danger of further damage by flood was believed to be passed.

NO CHANGE BEFORE TONIGHT.

Northeast Wind and Rainstorm Shows Little Abatement.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The heavy northeast wind and rainstorm which has prevailed along the New England coast since Friday showed little abatement early today, and the weather bureau this morning would give no promise of a change before tonight or tomorrow. The wind last night blew at from 18 to 32 miles an hour. Reports from all sections on the coast show tremendous seas with some damage to water front property and small shipping, but the ample warning given of the approach of the disturbance it is hoped will prevent heavy damage at sea.

The weather bureau reported that two inches and a half of rain fell during the 12 hours from 8 o'clock last night to 8 o'clock this morning, of which an inch and a half fell before midnight.

MAINE NOT AFFECTED.

Precipitation of Rain Only .70 of an Inch and Wind 26 Miles.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 12.—The storm which has caused such extensive damage along the coast and in some of the Middle Atlantic states had not affected Maine up to noon today. The precipitation of rain had been only .70 of an inch and the highest velocity of the wind during the night was only 26 miles. The wind was north-northeast.

REPORT SEVERE WEATHER.

Incoming Steamers From the South Suffer From Tremendous Seas.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Incoming steamers from European and coastwise ports today reported extremely severe weather during the past three days. Vessels arriving from the eastward suffered but little, coming along with the prevailing easterly gales, whereas steamers from the southward felt the full force of the tempest, and suffered more or less damage from the tremendous seas, which swept over them for 74 hours.

Friday while the storm was raging fiercely the cargo of the City of Savannah shifted, causing a list of from 18 to 20 degrees to port and adding dangerously to her rolling. She was compelled to proceed under reduced speed. Heavy seas swept away the forward ventilators, head lights were smashed in, and the water poured into the saloon. The vessel carried 54 passengers.

Clyde liner Arapahoe, which left Jacksonville Friday and touched at Charleston, arrived today 36 hours late. During the fiercest of the storm she was hove to. Her officers report that when 15 miles northeast by north of the Northeast End lightship at 5 o'clock yesterday they passed a quantity of spars which appeared to be wreckage of a three-masted schooner. A few miles further on the steamer passed the bowsprit of a wrecked vessel standing about eight feet out of the water. The derelict appeared to be a good-sized sailing craft, but there was nothing visible to indicate the name.

STEEL COMMON DOWN TO 121-2.

Industrial Group Weak, Including Colorado Fuel.

Several Issues Sold Regardless of Market Values.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—New low records were made by United States Steel common and preferred at the opening of the stock market today and the remainder of the list was weak in sympathy. Steel common on sales of 7,000 shares in blocks of 500 to 3,000 sold from 13⅝ to 13½ as against 14¼, Saturday's close. The opening sale of Steel preferred was a block of 3,000 shares at 58. Then in lots of 200 to 800 shares it fell to 58¾. Some support was shown in the next lot of 5,000 shares at 58, but soon after the stock receded once more and by the end of the first half-hour was selling at 53¾, which is a point beneath Saturday's close. Trading in Steel stocks was very general, and it was impossible to learn how much of it represented liquidation and how much short selling. Several large commission houses, including a well known Chicago firm, sold these stocks heavily, and an international banking house was reported to have sold a large block of the preferred for European account. The industrial group as a whole was very weak, including Colorado Fuel. Some slight improvement was shown by the Steel stocks toward the end of the first hour.

In the middle of the second hour another drive was made against the Steel stocks, and the common came out in a string of 4,500 shares, selling down to 12½. On the exchange it was reported that the bulk of the selling was forced liquidation, and came largely from Pittsburg and Cleveland. One report was that a former insider in the Steel Corporation had been forced to throw over 50,000 of common and 20,000 of preferred. Shortly before noon the preferred stock was off to 57¾, and the bonds were down 1¾ below Saturday. Other extremely weak stocks included Colorado Fuel, which was off over 5 points, Railway Steel spring preferred over 6 points, American Car Preferred and General Electric 3½ and Republic Iron and Steel preferred 3. Around noon the market was still weak and excited.

There was a moderate rally in the first hour of the afternoon session, even the Steel stocks making slight fractional recoveries. Some of the other industrials, however, went lower than before, and the tape indicated that some of these issues were being sold regardless of market values. The standard railway shares showed some independence of movement with a fairly firm undertone, but the absence of buying power was still a marked feature.

READY FOR WAR.

Russia and Japan Both Preparing for Hostilities.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The correspondent of the Morning Post at Chefoo, telegraphing October 10, says: "It is stated that the Japanese have decided to declare hostilities tomorrow on the expiration of their ultimatum to Russia. The Russian fleet has cleared from Port Arthur. It is reported that the Japanese are landing troops at Masanpho, Corea.

"There are strong indications that Germany favors hostilities on the ground that it would enable her to extend her sphere of influence in China.

"A number of field guns were embarked at Port Arthur yesterday for an unknown destination. All the available force of workmen is employed on the fortifications."

Another despatch to the Morning Post from Chefoo, dated October 11, 8.50 p. m., says: "The situation is unchanged. All is quiet at Port Arthur. Hostilities are still believed to be imminent. It is asserted that the Russians have fixed Friday next for their commencement."

CABINET APPOINTMENTS.

Son of the Late Premier to be Lord Privy Seal.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The interesting announcement is made tonight that the Marquis of Salisbury (late Viscount Cranborne) will enter the cabinet as lord privy seal, the office held by his father until his retirement last year, when Mr. Balfour assumed the post, without taking the salary of $10,000 specially attached to it when the late Marquis of Salisbury took the position.

The cabinet now consists of 19 members. The appointment of Lieutenant Colonel William Bromley-Davenport, M. P., as financial secretary to the war office, is confirmed, and the following additional minor appointments have been made:

Secretary to the admiralty, Ernest G. Pretlyman; civil lord of the admiralty, Major Arthur H. Lee, M. P.; junior lord of the treasury, Lord Balcarres, M. P.; treasurer of the household, the Marquis of Hamilton.

The new civil lord of the admiralty, Major Lee, was British military attache with the United States army in the Spanish-American war, and military attache to the British embassy at Washington, 1899-1900. He was parliamentary private secretary to Arnold Forster, secretary to the admiralty, in 1901.

CLAIMS SETTLED.

Pressure on the Porte Secures Results in Two Cases.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 11.—Two more claims of the American legation have been satisfactorily settled, the more important being the issue of a firman granting to Dr. Bank permission to excavate the ruins of Bismah in Mesopotamia. The claim has been pending for three years, its settlement being constantly thwarted by a German professor engaged in similar work.

Another settlement concerns property belonging to the wife of an American at Smyrna, upon which immigrants have established themselves and which the government now agrees to purchase. Other negotiations are making progress.

Some powers are showing irritation at the prolonged stay of the American warships at Beirut, but United States Minister Leishman maintains an attitude of patient and steady pressure and is obtaining satisfaction without any unnecessary bluster.

SAW THE GREAT CATARACT.

London Honourables Spend Sunday at Niagara Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The first section of the train conveying the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company and its guests, the Honourable Artillery Company of London, reached here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. This section carried the headquarters of the Ancients. Lord and Lady Denbigh and an equal number of both companies. The second section, under Lieutenant Colonel Oakes, came in an hour later, bringing the balance of the two companies.

For the first time since leaving Fall River the sun shone this afternoon, the best part of the run from Washington having been made in a rain storm which threatened to spoil the Niagara visit. This change in weather conditions made everybody happy and it was a very jolly crowd that landed here this noon.

The dining cars, two to each section, had their first trial this morning, when breakfast was served, and they answered their purpose admirably. They are placed in the centre of the train and are easily reached from both ends. The English guests were more than pleased, a majority of them never having tried an American dining car before, and the elaborateness of the service received their unstinted praise. The health of the entire party continues excellent, and all are greatly enjoying themselves, especially Lady Denbigh, who, after a good night's rest, was about the train early in the forenoon. She apparently is bound to get all the fun out of the trip possible, and is interested in everything along the route.

This afternoon the entire party took the trolleys for a ride through the gorge. The route was over to and down the Canadian shore to Lewiston, stopping en route at the Brock monument. This commemorative shaft recording a British victory, the only monument of its kind the Englishmen have seen on their visit, naturally interested them greatly, and their amateur photographers were out in force, "taking" the monument and its surroundings.

While a number of the Englishmen had visited the falls before, a majority were seeing them for the first time, and their interest in everything they saw was intense. The special trolleys stopped frequently along the route and hundreds of photos have been taken for English consumption.

At 6 o'clock the special left the city for Montreal, which it is expected will be reached by 7 o'clock Monday morning.

TAMMANY GAINS.

Said to be Getting the Advantage in the Registration.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—In the opinion of experienced campaigners who have given their views the fusionists have been rather worsted by Tammany Hall in the first two days of registration in Manhattan and the Bronx. It is clear to these observers that if the Republican party and its ally, the Citizens' Union, cannot do better during the last two days, next Friday and Saturday they will be handicapped by not having their full anti-Tammany vote registered.

In order to show the facts the Herald has had a computation made of the 10 districts south of Fourteenth street, which Shepard carried in 1901, and 10 districts where the fusion vote was strong at that election. This shows that the falling off in the Democratic districts from the first two days of 1901 is about 17 per cent, and the falling off in the fusion districts is about 23 per cent. If the numbers of votes in the Democratic and fusion districts were nearly equal this would not appear to be a very serious matter. But they are not. In the districts where the falling off is only 17 per cent the two parties polled in the Shepard-Low campaign 63,965 votes. In the 10 districts where the falling off is 23 per cent the total vote was 124,988.

It does not require very much figuring to show where this will leave the fusion ticket, unless the committees of which Mr. Bruce and Mr. Cutting are the heads get to work, or unless Mr. Low can "elect himself." It will not do for Mr. Bruce to say, as he said today, that he "knew" that the Low voters were registering and the McClellan voters were not. Nor will the figures go far toward reassuring the fusion candidates that stories of Republican treachery among the district leaders have no foundation.

Tammany has planned to make an aggressive fight on the stump against Police Commissioner Greene, and Comptroller Grout is expected to take occasion the first time he appears on the Tammany platform to announce that one of the early acts of Mr. McClellan, if he is elected, will be to kick General Greene out, and Mr. Grout will approve such a course. John T. Oakley, it is said, is slated to succeed General Greene. The police gave Tammany additional cause for reprisal tonight by making a raid on a prize fight, and 56 of the 65 prisoners wore the insignia of the Order of Eagles, of which Timothy D. Sullivan is the head.

If Tammany reports are to be believed, the Tammanyizing of the McLaughlin regular Democracy of Brooklyn has been achieved. Charles F. Murphy, it is said, wants another meeting of the executive committee of the Brooklyn organization, and P. H. McCarren, who is his representative across the river, said tonight that such a meeting ought to be called to take action on the city ticket. He says the leaders have had no opportunity of expressing an opinion since before the city convention. At that meeting Mr. McCarren stood alone in advocating a course which was approved by Mr. Murphy. Tammany now claims 12 of the 21 district leaders. This, of course, is disputed by the friends of the old "boss."

CLEARING CHINATOWN.

Boston Police Arrest More Than 300 Celestials.

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Over 300 Chinamen were arrested in Chinatown tonight by United States marshals, immigration officers, Chinese inspectors and Boston police, and those who cannot produce registration certificates will be deported to China. More arrests will be made, probably today, and the work will be continued until Chinatown has received a cleaning out such as it was never dreamed would be attempted in Boston.

The arrests are the result of the murder of Wong Yak Chung, whose body was buried with Mongolian honors in Mt. Hope cemetery this afternoon, and were suggested by Captain Lawrence Cain of police division 4, who believes that this is the only way in which the murderous feuds which showed above the surface a week ago Friday night, when Chung was shot down in Harrison avenue, can be stamped out.

Before the work which was begun last night is completed it is believed that 200 or 300 Chinamen will have been sent back to China from this city, and even if they are not members of the Highbinders' organization, or of the rival faction which has threatened to exterminate that body, Captain Cain is satisfied that their deportation will give those who remain a lesson which will make Chinatown one of the quietest places within the limits of Boston.

The Chinamen who were arrested last night were driven in patrol wagons, delivery teams and in a street car to the federal building, and there many of them remained all night huddled together in two rooms in charge of federal officers. During the night a number of them were successful in having their friends hunt up their registration certificates and the moment these were produced the owners were released.

The law passed by Congress in 1882, under which the arrests were made, does not make any provision for a man who has lost his certificate, and the police say that many Chinamen will have to suffer deportation because they have not guarded the papers which perhaps they could, with a little trouble, prove they once had in their possession.

There were some exciting scenes during the raiding of the restaurants, the lodging houses and the joss houses, and a patrolman of station 4, John H. Regan, had his right leg broken. The accident to Regan was the result of the overturning of a barge in front of 21 Harrison avenue, in which about 50 Chinamen had been placed for removal to the federal building.

Wong Yak Chung was buried in Mount Hope cemetery this afternoon. His body was carried through China town in one of Lewis Jones & Sons' hearses, several hundred Highbinders following it in hacks and on foot, and hundreds of Mongolians who belong to the rival organizations which had threatened to exterminate the Highbinders stood about the streets and watched the procession from windows, doorways and rooftops, but none of them attempted to make any trouble.

Some of them were there with the intention of taking revenge for the murder of Chung, but so carefully had Captain Cain made his police arrangements that they did not have a chance to interfere with the funeral procession.

Although there were probably 1,000 Chinamen in the buildings and about the doorways, there was not one of them who was not under the eyes of a policeman. Had one of them lifted a hand he would have been immediately taken into custody, and had anything that had the appearance of a riot started there would have been many wounded Celestials about the streets within a few minutes.

PHILLIPPI LOST.

Boston Beats Pittsburg Easily, and Leads in the Series.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10.—The second largest crowd that ever attended a ball game at Exposition Park greeted the American and National League champions when they appeared on the field to play the fourth and last home game in the interleague series. The sun shone brightly and long before the gates were opened the streets in the vicinity of the park were a mass of humanity awaiting admission.

Huston won easily by a score of 7 to 3, making three straight victories for the visitors. The magnificent record made by Phillippi in winning the three games pitched against the Boston pennant winners led the crowd to think he could do so again. But in this it was disappointed. As he walked to the centre of the diamond to begin the game he was given the greatest ovation ever tendered a player on the local grounds, and was given a diamond pin. He pitched a good, steady game, but Boston's hits came when most needed, while the Pittsburgs could not bunch theirs. Young pitched a fine game for Boston and was very steady with men on bases.

Three bases were again allowed for a hit into the crowd. The visitors profited most from this rule, five of their 11 hits landing among the spectators, some of which would have been easily caught on a clear field. The batting and fielding of Bransfield, the fielding of Wagner, Ritchey and Parent and the catching of Criger were the features.

Boston led off by making two runs in the first. After Dougherty had gone out Collins tripled to left and came home on Stahl's three-base hit to right, both hits going into the crowd. Stahl scored on Phelps's error. They added two more in the fourth on triples by Freeman and Ferris and Criger's single. Parent's single, an error by Phillippi, a sacrifice hit by Ferris and Criger's single scored two runs in the sixth.

In the eighth Parent tripled to left and came home on a wild pitch, scoring the last run. Pittsburg scored one run in the fourth on Bransfield's triple and an out at first. Clarke's three-base hit and an out at first scored another in the sixth. In the ninth singles by Sebring, Phelps and Phillippi scored its third run. Attendance 17,038.

PROPER CARE OF THE FEET.

[New York Tribune.]

An interesting commentary on modern civilization is to be found in a treatise on the human foot and its clothing by Charles O. Kahler of New York, surgeon chiropodist, entitled "Our Feet." The illustrations of diseased and deformed feet in this little volume are so revolting that it is scarcely possible to look at them. Yet many American women with beautiful hands and forms and faces of almost perfect contour have feet quite as badly deformed as the various cuts represent, says the author.

These shocking results are attributed to the baneful effects of fashion, the ignorance of boot and shoe makers regarding the anatomy of the foot and a general lack of knowledge as to the proper care of this much abused member, which is "so delicate and sensitive that even short and badly shaped stockings have been known to throw its joints out." As to the iniquity of crowding five toes into a space that is only sufficient for two, it is scarcely worth while to repeat Dr. Kahler's remarks, for everything possible has been said on that subject already, without effect; but some of his other observations on the care of the feet may be of interest.

The fit of stockings is almost as important as that of shoes, he says, and in order that they may fit it is necessary that they shall have a right and left to the pair. Such stockings wear longer than the ordinary variety, because there is less strain on them. They should have as few seams as possible, as these cause corns, and a stocking that is too short is just as injurious as a shoe that has the same fault. Colored stockings are a source of danger to ills and sensitive skins, but stockings with white feet are just as good as those that are entirely white.

The feet should be bathed at night, and by removing aches and weariness this treatment is an excellent sleep producer. The water should be salted, allowing a quart of brine to a quart of water, and may be hot or cold, according to individual constitution. The feet should be scrubbed all over with a nail brush, which will often prevent the formation of corns, and callosities in the soles may be reduced with a piece of fine emery paper or fine file, before the feet are placed in water. The brine may be made by dissolving a pint of sea salt in two quarts of water, pouring it into a covered jar or bottle, and allowing it to stand for 24 hours. As the brine is used the bottle may be filled with clear water, repeating the process till all the salt is gone.

The feet of children should receive the most careful attention, for neglect at that time may lay the foundation for many future ills. Since the feet of a child are in process of development, the bones and ligaments are soft and pliable, and will conform to a bad as well as to a properly shaped shoe. Hence shoes of sufficient length and breadth, with snug heels and close fitting instep, can alone make it possible for a child to grow up with perfect feet. Children, if sent to a reliable surgeon-chiropodist at regular intervals to have their feet examined and the toe nails cut, will avoid many if not all the ailments due to ill fitting shoes and stockings, as he can tell at a glance when anything is the matter, and prevent any further progress of the trouble. Even adults will find their feet greatly benefited by following this advice, and before many years have passed the public may regard the chiropodist as necessary to their well being as the dentist or physician.

CHAPTER 1128.

AN ACT to Authorize Licenses.

(Passed April 17, 1903.)

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows:

Section 1. The electors of the town of New Shoreham who are qualified to vote in the election of all general officers may at the election of general officers cast their ballots for or against the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in said town from the first day of June to the first day of October in each year: Provided, a number of the qualified electors equal to fifteen per centum of the vote cast for general officers at the election next preceding shall petition the town clerk therefor at least twenty days prior to said election; and the town clerk shall upon such petition insert a proposition, providing for taking such vote, in the warrant calling the town meeting, and shall at least fifteen days previous to the day of said election file with the secretary of state a certificate that the question, "Will the town grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors from the first day of June to the first day of October?" is to be submitted to the vote of the people in said town.

Sec. 2. If a majority of the ballots so cast at any such election be against the granting of such licenses, no license shall be granted, nor until such town shall vote at some subsequent election of general officers to grant such licenses; but if the majority of the ballots cast at any such election shall be for the granting of such licenses, then licenses may be granted in said town for the time above mentioned, next after such election and during such time of each year, until said town shall vote at some subsequent election of general officers not to grant licenses for said time.

Sec. 3.—If a majority of the ballots cast at any such election be in favor of granting such licenses as aforesaid, then the town council of said town may grant or refuse to grant licenses to such citizens resident within said town, for the sale of intoxicating liquors within the limits of said town, as they may think proper, to begin on the first day of June and expire on the first day of October next succeeding the granting of the same. The licensee shall pay therefor a price which shall be in proportion to the length of time which the said license so granted shall continue in force bears to the price for a license for a year as provided in Chapter 102 of the General Laws. The granting of said licenses in all other respects than herein mentioned shall be subject to the provisions of said Chapter 102 of the General Laws or any amendment thereof.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect from and after its passage; and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

THE NEWPORT JOURNAL AND WEEKLY NEWS.

FOUR BILLS THIS WEEK.

"Hello Bill," "Sag Harbor," Peck and "The Old Mill Stream.

News and Notes of Plays and of Players from All Parts of the Country.

Four attractions are billed for the local Opera House this week—"Hello Bill" this evening, "Sag Harbor" Tuesday evening, "Peck and His Mother-in-law Abroad" Wednesday evening and Dan'l Sully in "The Old Mill Stream" Friday evening.

"Hello Bill" is a farcical comedy which has met with considerable success. The booklet, which is in three acts, is the work of Willis Maxwell Goodhue, a humorous writer of note. It tells the story of a man who on the eve of his marriage to a beautiful young widow went out to have what is commonly known as a good time, and had the ill fortune to be caught in a gambling house which was raided. He discovered, as he supposed, that nothing would save him from serving a sentence of 60 days in jail, and in order to keep his bride in ignorance of his disgrace he took advantage of the circumstances and the morning following the raid the papers announced that a gentleman bearing his name had been appointed to the colonelcy of a volunteer regiment which had been ordered to join the United States forces then engaged in the Spanish-American war. He showed the paragraph to his bride, pretending that he was the man appointed, and bidding her a fond farewell hastened away, as she supposed to Cuba, and as he supposed to serve a sentence in prison. He escaped, however, with a fine, but having paid the fine he found it necessary to remain in obscurity until his namesake returned from Cuba, in order to keep his bride blind as to the true condition of affairs. When the announcement of the expected return of the colonel (now a general and a hero) was made through the newspapers a reception was arranged for the bogus general by his friends in the quiet little seaside town where his bride awaited him, and to complicate matters the real general, seeing by the papers that he was to be thus honored, also made his way to the same town for the entertainment. All sorts of complications keep the audience in good humor.

"Sag Harbor" was intended by its author, the late James A. Herne, as a companion picture of "Shore Acres." Both plays deal with the humble coast folk and the story told is in nearly every scene and incident founded on actual facts. In "Sag Harbor" the homely characters Mr. Herne has introduced are mostly studies in human nature, and he makes them work out a probable story in a logical manner. The story is that of a woman who apparently loves and is loved by two brothers, one of whom she marries. Captain Dan Marble, a fisherman, whose province is to act as mediator between the brothers, contributes heart-to-heart talks of the typical Herne kind at propitious moments and finally straightens the tangles out. The strength of "Sag Harbor" lies in its character creations, which are said to be superior to any types heretofore shown in the Herne plays.

For Edgar Selden's musical comedy, "Peck and His Mother-in-law Abroad," money has been expended for expensive scenery and beautiful stage effects, together with handsome costumes for the pretty girls who make up the cast and chorus.

Dan'l Sully will present for the first time in Newport his latest play, "The Old Mill Stream," written for him by Fitzgerald Murphy. It has been the dream of Mr. Sully's life to show the theatre-going public a picture of the idyllic spot where he lives in summer. Aside from this natural desire, he had a story to tell. So last June the dramatist and he gave form to their story and "The Old Mill Stream" is the product. Back of Mr. Sully's house in Mink Hollow, Ulster county, New York, there is a beautiful stream that has been the subject of litigation for years between an old Irishman, named Ryan, who runs a flour mill, and the farmers of the vicinity, along whose banks runs the stream. He wanted a sort of perpetual franchise to dam up the stream and run his mill, and the shrewd farmers who had an equity interest in the water prepared to make him pay dearly for the privilege. This litigation involved the heart affairs of the Irishman's daughter and her many suitors, who were sons of the farmers who were fighting him. The mill stream divided several loving hearts and eventually became the source of nearly all the romances that have idealized the little community. This condition of affairs suggested to Mr. Sully beautiful possibilities of a rural play based upon actual life.

The leading attraction this week at the Providence theatres is Frank Daniels, who will be seen in his new musical comedy, "The Office Boy," during the entire week at the Providence Opera House. The other bills are Kellar at the Empire, "A Hot Old Time" at the Imperial, vaudeville at Keith's, "The Dazzler" at the Park and burlesque at the Westminster.

Two new bills are offered in Boston, Annie Russell in "Mice and Men" at the Park and Charles Richman in "Captain Barrington" at the Globe. The attractions at the other theatres are "The Yankee Consul" at the Tremont, Julia Marlowe in "Fools of Nature" at the Hollis, Jerome Sykes in "The Billionaire" at the Colonial, Francis Wilson in "Erminie" at the Columbia, "The Virginian" at the Majestic, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" at the Boston and "Under Two Flags" at the Grand Opera House.

John J. McNally has about completed the American book of "Mother Goose" for Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger.

It is announced that Mrs. Carter Harrison's book of fairy tales, "Prince Silver Wings," has been dramatized, and will be produced next season in Chicago.

Illka Spong has been engaged by Charles Frohman to appear in New York with William Faversham in his new play. Miss Spong sailed from London yesterday.

Effie Ellsler has refused to make a tour in Hazel Kirk," as she will probably create the principal rote in one of the important productions to be made in New York early this season.

Dan Sully has a new piece, "The Chief Justice" written especially for him, in which he will star next season. It will have its first presentment at the Fourteenth Street Theatre in New York city.

Thomas E. Shea has made an elaborate production of "Richelieu" an important feature of his repertoire.

"Miriam" is the title which Stephen Phillips has given to the new seventeenth century Puritan play which he has written for E. S. Willard.

Julia Marlowe will not appear in any of the smaller cities of New England this season with her production of "Fools of Nature."

Paul Kester is writing a new play for Elsie DeWolfe, but no name has yet been selected for it, nor for Miss DeWolfe's character.

In the cast of Klaw & Erlanger's big production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" are Messrs. Nat C. Goodwin, Boyd Putnam, William Farnum, Edmund D. Lyons, White Whittlesy, Misses Ida Conquest, Crystal Herne, Florence Rockwell, Catherine Hutchinson and Mayme Kelso.

Charles Frohman was informed by cable Saturday from London that the sale of seats for Pinero's new play, "Letty," at the Duke of York's Theatre, in the first 24 hours after the opening night amounted to £4,000. King Edward and suite attended the performance Friday night.

Grace George recently purchased a copy of the program which recorded the first appearance of Edwin Booth. This event occurred in 1834 at the Boston Museum, where the great tragedian played Tressel in John Wilkes Booth's performance of "Richard III." Miss George paid $65 for the program.

Wilton Lackaye will head a cast of over 400 people in William A. Brady's production of "The Pit." There are 68 "speaking parts" in the piece.

Ruth Holt was engaged last week to be leading woman with Aubrey Boucicault in "Captain Charley." Mr. Boucicault's tour will begin November 9 at Albany.

"Way Down East" is to be presented during the winter at the Adelphi Theatre, London, by a company the members of which will be selected from the three organizations now presenting the pastoral in this country. The production will be under the direction of William A. Brady.

Grace George will return from London, where she is to play at Wyndham's New Theatre, September 8, 1904, when she will take up her tour in "Pretty Peggy" in San Francisco. She will then move eastward, presenting a new comedy in New York early in March.

Charpentier, the composer of "Louise," the most successful French opera of the last decade or two, has completed a new opera, which, however, notwithstanding his popularity in Paris, is to have its first performance in Vienna where a large part of the score was written. Charpentier declares that Vienna is a better place to work in than Paris, because it is quieter.

The new Pawtucket Keith Theatre will be opened October 26, with vaudeville at popular prices. Edward F. Albee, the proprietor of the new playhouse, has expended $50,000 in remodelling this theatre. Mr. Charles Lovenberg, manager of the Providence Keith house, will be manager of the new Pawtucket theatre.

Four members of the company for David Belasco's new play arrived in New York from Europe Saturday on the Campania. They are Louise Moodie, who was seen in this country with John Hare in "The Gay Lord Quex," and Malcolm Dunn, who is new to America, but is well known in England, South Africa and Australia; Stanley Drewitt and Frank Westerton. The latter two were in the cast of "Everyman" last season. Mr. Belasco's new play is still nameless. The only information vouchsafed about it is that it is to be produced to follow Mrs. Carter's engagement in "Du Barry" at the Belasco.

Adelina Patti will open her "farewell" tour in Carnegie Hall, New York, November 2 and 4. The repertory of her American tour comprises Rossini's "Belraggio" and "Una Voce," Wagner's "Dreams" and "Elizabeth's Prayer," Ave Marias by Schubert, Sanlley and Bach-Gounod, Handel's "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," Schubert's "Serenade," Gounod's "Serenade," Grieg's "The Winter May Wane," Finanti's "Adelina Waltz," Gianz's "Nightingale's Thrill," Wallace's "Good Night," "The Banks of Allan Water," Crouch's "Kathleen Mavourneen," "The Old Folks at Home," "The Old Kentucky Home" and, of course, "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Home, Sweet Home."

Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott will be seen next month at the Providence Opera House in Constance Fletcher's dramatic version of Rudyard Kipling's novel. "The Light That Failed." The play is staged in a prologue and three acts, with the original scenic equipment utilized during its long run at the Lyric Theatre in London.

Sir Henry Irving sailed from London for New York Saturday on his eighth American tour. With him on board the Minneapolis is his company of 83 persons, with 683 pieces of baggage. Replying to a toast to his health at a luncheon on board the steamer before starting, Sir Henry said that going to America hardly seemed like going to another country, but rather to his home. For 20 years he had been visiting America, and it had been an unqualified delight to him to see the growing love between the two lands. Sir Henry said "Dante" was the only piece he intended to play during his five months' tour in the United States. He did not think it would be necessary to offer American audiences anything from his reuertoire.

It is doubtful if there is on record a more remarkable instance of the complete establishment in popular favor of a playhouse in the brief space of one week than has been demonstrated by the success of the Columbia Theatre, Boston, under the management of Sam S. and Lee Shubert. The current attraction is Francis Wilson, and Nixon & Zimmerman's company of star players in a sumptuous revival of "Erminie." Among the players of especial prominence are Marguerita Sylva, Jessie Bartlett Davis, Madge Lessing, Jennie Weathersby, Francis Wilson, William Broderick, Albert Parr and Signor Perugini. The eight "Gainsborough" girls, an ensemble of 100 and an orchestra of 24 complete what is one of the most expensive comic opera companies ever organized. The engagement of this company at the Columbia will terminate Saturday of this week, and Monday, October 19, "The Runaways," the big New York Casino musical comedy success, will open for a limited engagement, with Fay Templeton at the head of the cast.

The character of George Washington will be portrayed in "Captain Barrington," Victor Mapes's new American play, by Mr. Joseph Kilgour.

Annie Russell's tour this season will be entirely devoted to "Mice and Men." She will play extended engagements in the large cities.

Annie Russell sets all doubts of her admirers at rest on the much mooted question as to whether the toes she displays in "Mice and Men" are her own true toes. "This," she says, "is the first time in my stage career that my feet have pushed themselves into public notice. It was decidedly embarrassing at the start, and I am glad the first plunge is over. You may imagine how

A LATTER-DAY LULLABY.

[From Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.]

Hushaby, lullaby, go to sleep now!
There is your patent self-rocking crib, dear!
You've had your milk from a sterilized cow,
From microbes and germs you have nothing to fear.
Hushaby, lullaby,
Shut your blue eyes,
A babe of today
Never whimpers or cries!

Hushaby, lullaby, th' food that you had
Came straight from the chemist—prepared just for you.
Fed by machinery, are you not glad
That science has taught all these methods so new?
Hushaby, lullaby,
Baby so sweet,
(Crying is out of date,
I must repeat!)

Hushaby, lullaby. If you are good
Mother will call on you once very day,
So you may recognize her, as you should—
Ah, she is rearing you in the right way!
Hushaby, lullaby,
Dear little man,
I hope you appreciate
This splendid plan!

Dr. Lines has a keen sense of humor, and has enlivened many a dinner with bright talks. At a recent Chamber of Commerce dinner he carried off the anecdotal honors with the following story: "At the time of King Edward's recovery from his threatened fatal illness with appendicitis," he said, "thanksgiving services were held all over the kingdom. At one of these the services were to close with the singing of a well known hymn, which happened to be in the back of the books used in that parish."

"'Let us close the services,' the pastor said, 'by singing the hymn "Peace, Perfect Peace"—in the appendix.'"—[Newark Evening News.

MISSES' WAIST AND SKIRT.

No. 2137—The popularity of pleated waists continues unabated. In the charming design shown here the waist is characterized by the broad pleat in the front with two outward-turning pleats at either side. The same idea is carried out in the sleeve, which is also trimmed by a fancy cuff. The broad pleat in front gives a good foundation for trimming, as is shown in illustration. The back of the waist is pleated on either side of the centre closing.

The skirt is one of the new tucked styles, the tucks arranged in a manner to carry out the waist decoration. For the miss who needs a general utility dress, this is a good model to follow, as the mode may be very simply trimmed with stitching for every day wear, or will allow much trimming for a more elaborate costume. A pretty development would be in white linen, trimmed with medallions of lace and the strapping of contrasting color. Another dress might be made of challie, albatross or voile, using lace and velvet for decoration. Any of the cotton or light weight woolens or ponge would make up satisfactorily.

Waist No. 2,427—Sizes for 14 and 16 years.

Skirt No. 2,373—Sizes for 14 and 16 years.

Accurate patterns of the designs illustrated herewith can be had at the uniform price of ten cents each. These patterns are reliable models of the newest and most popular styles now worn.

Illustrations and full directions for cutting and making up accompany each pattern. There is a piece for every part of the garment to be made, number and name of the different pieces in the pattern, and complete instructions, so that any one who can sew can make a neat and perfect-fitting garment without difficulty.

Order patterns by number, and state size desired. Waist patterns come in the following sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inch bust measure. Skirt patterns come in the following sizes: 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 36 inch waist measure. If for misses or children give age also. If the measure is accurately given, the pattern will fit perfectly, requiring only the usual dressmaking alterations in trying on to suit high or sloping shoulders, etc. All orders will be promptly filled. Ten cents (silver or stamps) for each pattern desired must be sent with order. Address all communications to Pattern Department, Daily News Office.

RUSSIAN DIPLOMACY.

Five or six years ago when the Russian government was negotiating a treaty with China which seriously affected British interests the English ambassador at St. Petersburg received certain assurances from the Russian government which were proved worthless as soon as the treaty was concluded and made public. The only explanation the Russian government deemed it worth while to make, or that the circumstances admitted, was that the English government could not expect the Czar to disclose the subjects of a negotiation while the negotiation was pending. It was a perfectly plain case of deliberate mendacity on the part of the Russian government until the bargain with China should be completed.

It is evident enough now that Russia has lied three or four times in regard to the evacuation of Manchuria. It does not especially concern us so long as certain trade privileges are secured to us; it remains to be seen whether they are, or not. It is of vital concern to Japan, and of very great importance to England, and of some consequence to the rest of the world. It has been proved conclusively that no considerations of honor will restrain the Russian government from lying, that no confidence can be placed in any Russian assurance, and that in dealing with Russia other nations can depend upon nothing except what they are able and willing to obtain or defend by arms. At what point Russia will fight is uncertain; huge as she is, her capacity for fighting, especially at long range, is open to a good deal of doubt. But Russia will take everything she wishes that can be obtained by chicanery and a bluff of military and naval operations. The only way of dealing with her is to put no trust in treaties, but to keep one's hand on one's gun.

A VOICE OF TRUTH FROM ALABAMA.

A discussion in the Alabama legislature on a proposition to appropriate an additional $2,500 a year for a school for negroes in Montgomery inspired two speeches of rather more than ordinary interest. One was that of a member who lives in Tuskegee, who opposed the appropriation, declared that criminals come out of Booker Washington's school, and said: "I am opposed to giving money to educate the negro along industrial lines." It is quite certain that this gentleman and many of the Southern people are opposed to educating the negro along literary or strictly intellectual lines. If the negro is not to be educated along industrial lines he is simply to revert to the "befoh de wah" status of a domestic animal. But it was declared in the course of the debate that such sentiments are not those of the South, and this has been abundantly proved, for a good deal has been done by the South for the education of negroes, generally and industrially.

There was in this debate one expression of manly feeling which should be remembered to the credit of Mr. Verner of Tuscaloosa and millions of white people in the South. "I don't favor social equality," he said, "or anything like it (social equality is such a bugbear that no Southern man dares to say a word in behalf of the negro without protesting that he does not favor it); but the people of Alabama owe the negro something, and it should be paid. There is not a man upon the floor of this house that has not got money from the sweat of the negroes' brow who worked and toiled for him." There is a good, manly sentiment, and if it does not go very far it goes far enough to be encouraging. The bill to appropriate the additional $2,500 passed. The majority was only two, but it was a majority, and it was on the right side.

ABDUL HAMID II AND PHILIP III.

The Sultan has been studying history and has found that the Spaniards were more savage to the Moriscos than his troops have been to the Macedonians and the Bulgarians, but he had to go back three centuries to find a Christian precedent for the performances of his army. This is an official announcement that the Turk is 300 years behind the European in the progress of civilization. The Turk is not only following the European at a long distance, but he is following him very much against his own will. All the civilization the Turk has acquired has been forced upon him, greatly to his disgust, by the growing power of Europe.

It is just as well to remember that, while all Turks are Moslems, not all Moslems are Turks. The Arabs did develop a pretty decent sort of civilization and within certain limits promoted the study of science and mathematics and general literature. The Turcoman hordes that swept down through Persia and Syria and overran Asia Minor picked up some knowledge of letters and a smattering of civilization from the Persians and the Arabs, as the Goths and Vandals learned letters and civilization from the Rome which they pillaged. In the early days, when the Turks had acquired something of Arabic culture without having lost such virtues as are developed in the life of wild tribesmen, Turkish civilization and military and civil administration compared favorably with the corrupt and decadent civilization of the Greek empire and the barbarity of the north and west of Europe. But the Turk deteriorated; he regarded the Arabic love of learning with suspicion as savoring of heresy; among the intellectual Arabs were those who were none too pious Moslems. The European has fostered learning, and has been influenced a little by the religion he professes. The result is very moderately stated by the Sultan in finding for the troops of Turkey in 1903 a Spanish precedent in 1009.

EXTRAVAGANCE IN FOOD AND DRINK.

Two eminent British scientists, Sir Norman Lockyer and Sir Robert Giffen, have recently given expression to the opinion that what Great Britain needs most is not more sea power but more brain power. The former gave utterance to this belief not long ago and the latter has just reiterated the statement in a paper entitled "The Wealth of the Empire and How it Should be Used." The figures presented in this document were so forcible in their revelation of the existing conditions as to lead one of the speakers who discussed the paper to declare that Great Britain is "the most extravagant nation in the world." The statistics set forth in the article of Sir Robert Giffen show an exceedingly heavy expenditure by the nation for food and drink and a proportionally small one for education and "the higher ends of life," and in the opinion of the author a large part of this expenditure for food and drink is sheer economic waste, his belief being that the British nation eats and drinks vastly too much.

According to the figures presented, food and drink cost the nation 34 per cent of the total expenditure, dress 13 per cent, house 16 per cent, education less than three per cent, church only about two per cent and locomotion less than three per cent, church ed, however, that if the cost of distribution was added proportionally and the taxes on food and drink were included the sum spent for food and drink would amount to 42 per cent. This small expenditure for educational purposes, Sir Robert Giffen holds, is altogether inadequate and he would have it increased to at least 10 per cent of the total expenditure of the nation. At the same time he thinks the amount spent for food and drink should be reduced in the interest of health, brain power and economy.

We Americans are often arraigned as an extravagant people and a nation of high livers, and it is a fact that we are open to the same criticism as the British on this score. The countries of Continental Europe are the ones that are constantly held up as models for economy in manner of living, but even these have their extravagances in other forms. Every nation can learn something and the British people might well heed the advice of two such able economists as those who have given this recent warning.

A LABOR THREAT.

One of the leading officials of the American Federation of Labor says that $300,000,000 may be withdrawn from the banks and savings institutions of this country if the anti-boycott associations and associations of employers keep on suing unions for damages and thereby tying up their funds." He further says: "I do not believe any officer of a labor union will ever issue an order for the withdrawal of this vast sum, but I do believe that as a matter of self-preservation this step will become necessary. In that event savings banks will go down by the score and runs will be started on all the banking institutions in the country. This condition can result in nothing short of a panic. I would not wish to see this condition, but I believe the trades unionists, rather than endanger their funds, will withdraw them from the banks." This looks like a case of rule or ruin.

In the Democratic ward caucuses in this city Saturday night 36 voters elected 25 delegates to the convention which will nominate candidates for city officers. In the First and Second wards the number of votes cast was less than the number of delegates elected. This does not show a widespread interest in political affairs.

Comptroller Grout has finally declared himself. He will vote for McClellan and Tammany, in spite of his declaration two years ago that Tammany is a stench in the nostrils of the city. Wise men change their minds sometimes, and so do other men.

Senator Morgan of Alabama says he will make a vigorous campaign, as soon as Congress meets, for the construction of the isthmian canal by the Nicaragua route. We hoped all the talk on the canal route had been ended.

Colonel McClellan, candidate for mayor of New York, promises a good partisan administration if elected. It would undoubtedly be partisan, at least.

Ezekiel Ezekiel, the Democratic candidate for secretary of state in Massachusetts, ought to be both a prophet and the son of a prophet.

It seems a trifle odd that with the superabundance of water there should be any damage of a milk famine in New York.

The Republicans of Providence have nominated an excellent ticket for the General Assembly.

There were many guesses as to the Republican candidate for mayor, but few guessed right.

New York undoubtedly believes there was such a thing as the flood.

NEW MUSIC.

Three new songs by Reginald de Koven are included in the recent output of The John Church Company—"A Lute Song," "In a Garden" and "When Sylvia Saunters By." Lovers of de Koven's music will find these characteristic and charming. There are also two songs by Oley Speaks, "For You, Dear Heart" and "A Night in June," which will be attractive additions to the repertoire, and a couple of songs, "Flower Letters," and "The Green is on the Grass Again," by Charles Willeby. A dainty little song by C. B. Hawley is "The Heart That Sings Always." He also publishes a new setting to the well known hymn, "Just as I am," which will be useful to the church soloist. All are published for both high and low voice.

The John Church Company, Cincinnati.

Some of the best and most catchy popular music is put out by M. Witmark & Sons. Among the most attractive recent issues are "A Japanese Novelette—in a Lotus Field," by John W. Bratton; a set of waltzes, "At Newport," by Herbert Dillea, composer of "Fleur-de-Lis;" "Palmetto," by Howard Whitney, composer of "Mosquitos' Parade;" "Creepy Creeps," a two-step by Billee Taylor, and "The Star-Dreamer," an oriental serenade, by Theodore Bendix. Popular vocal numbers include "My Own Dear Irish Queen," in Chauncey Olcott's "Terence;" "Where the Prairie rolls along to meet the Plain," as sung by Reese V. Prosser of the Al. G. Field's Minstrels; "Mary from Maryland," in "The Girl from Dixie;" "As the Ivy Loves the Oak," a fine song for baritone, by John W. Bratton; "Glory," a military ballad, sung by Julius Steger in "The Millionaire;" "You, You, You," sung by Templar Saxe in "The Sultan of Sulu," and "Let Love Decide," Blanca de Jeneffe.

THE MAKING OF BASKETS.

[William E. Curtis, in Chicago Record-Herald.]

Up at South Haven, Mich., the other day, I visited a basket factory where the logs go in at one end and come out baskets at the other at the rate of 15,000 a day. Logs of beech, elm, maple and basswood, which have floated down the lake from the upper Michigan forests, are cut into proper lengths and rolled into a steam box, where they lie for not less than 12 or 15 hours until they are thoroughly saturated with hot moisture. They are then taken out and placed in what is called a veneer lathe, which peels the wood as if it were an apple, in strips of any thickness that is desired. Some of them are so thin that it takes a hundred to make an inch. Some are as thin as writing paper. Others are half an inch thick, and the knives are so sharp and the wood is so thoroughly steamed that the long, even shavings roll off a log like paper from a reel. They are then cut into different sizes, representing different parts of a basket, and taken to benches, where they are put together by men and women almost as rapidly as you can think, in less time than it takes to tell it.

There are nine pieces in one of the peach baskets you get at markets and 48 nails. Both the men and women carry the nails in their mouths, and the hammers in their right hands and handle the pieces with their left hands. They do this so quickly and so deftly that they can make from 50 to 75 baskets an hour, for which they receive 40 cents a hundred, less than half a cent a basket, which explains why peach baskets are given away. Albert Wank, a Swede, averages 800 baskets a day, working nine hours. The ordinary man will average 600 and the women 500, working nine hours, and the manager says that although the women do not work so rapidly, they make better baskets and are much more reliable.

From this shop come about 2,000,000 ordinary peach baskets every year; 150,000 berry crates, 1,400,000 berry boxes and between 80,000 and 100,000 bushel baskets. The baskets are sold as far east as New Jersey, and as far West as Colorado. The berry boxes are made by machinery which sews the wood with wire, instead of fastening it with tacks.

NEARLY 125 MILES AN HOUR ON ELECTRIC ROAD.

An electric car on the Marienfelde-Zossen experimental line in Berlin has reached a speed of 125 4-5 miles an hour, a kilometer more than the highest previous record. The machinery and roadbed were unimpaired. The engineers are determined to try for still higher speeds, and venture the opinion that they will be able to attain the rate of 140 miles an hour. The current was between 13,000 and 14,000 volts, capable of driving the car at the rate of over 200 miles. The car used had four motors, having together about 1,100 horse power. There were 12 to 14 persons on board the car, all technical men. They affirm that the motion of the car was no greater than that of an ordinary express train. The lives of all on board were heavily insured. While the engineers do not believe at present on the state railroads, they are prepared to recommend a speed of 93 miles an hour between Berlin and Hamburg.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

News and Notes of Interest and Importance from All Parts of the State.

Colonel Samuel P. Colt, the Republican nominee for governor, arrived home in Bristol yesterday morning in time to attend service in St. Michael's Church. It being Colonel Colt's first appearance in his home town since the state Republican convention, many of his fellow townsmen met him during the day, tendering congratulations and wishing him success in the contest soon to take place. Colonel Colt was interviewed regarding the political situation. He said he had just arrived from New York and could not say very much about the matter at present. Referring to his nomination in the convention, he said that his selection as a candidate for governor was a complete surprise. Owing to the fact of the call being so unanimous, he felt it a duty to accept the nomination, though his business interests seemed to lead him to take a different course. Regarding a published statement to the effect that a certain meeting at his home in Bristol one week ago Sunday had to do with plans concerning his being a candidate for governor, Colonel Colt said the matter was not mentioned by any one present and that it was a meeting on a different subject altogether. He said he was encouraged to hear that a number of Bristol Democrats were going to vote for him.

Michael J. Burke of Lymansville has taken his departure to a place unknown to his friends and family, who are much disturbed because of Mr. Burke's failure to appear at his home since Wednesday, September 30, when he walked out of his saloon on River avenue and took a car cityward. No especial importance was attached to his being away over night, or for a day or two, but it was naturally thought that he might be expected to return in due season and unharmed, especially since he is a man of herculean build and well able to take care of himself under any ordinary circumstances. It is also reported that he bade his wife good-bye and told her she would never see him again, being in ill humor at the moment because his wife interposed some small objection to his going to the city at that time.

While trying to save his hat, which had been blown into the waters of Narragansett bay off Rocky Point, Michael Dwyer, 37 years old, who lived in Providence, was drowned yesterday afternoon. His death was witnessed by his brother, Dennis Dwyer; another man whose name is not known but who was with the two Dwyers, and a number of other persons who were either fishing from the wharf or watching the storm-tossed bay from the shore. The body was recovered about 50 feet off shore by George Dorr of Commicut an hour after the drowning.

In Library Hall, Riverside, Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sweetland celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. Nearly 100 persons, including relatives and friends from Providence, Pawtucket and East Providence were present. The members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Narragansett Engine Company, No. 2, and Farragut Relief Corps, No. 5, of Riverside, attended in a body and were royally entertained by the hostess, who is a member of both societies. The hall was decorated for the occasion, and the stage, from which an orchestra discoursed popular music, was fringed with ferns and potted plants. During the early part of the evening Mr. and Mrs. Sweetland were busy in receiving their many guests, and when the time came for the beginning of the evening's entertainment the hall was well filled with a jolly crowd.

Henry De Forge, Jr., eight years old, was attempting to steal a ride on a Harbor Junction switching train of gondola cars Saturday at the Rugby street crossing of the Harbor Junction branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad in Providence, when he fell from the train and was run over and instantly killed. Six cars ran over him and he was mangled almost beyond semblance to a human form. The accident happened midway between the Broad and Eddy street bridges over the railroad tracks and the body was carried about 100 yards below the Eddy street bridge toward Harbor Junction. Engineer Curtis of the train of coal cars said that he had no idea that any one was run over or that any accident had occurred until he had run his train down to Harbor Junction, and was notified of the accident there.

Mrs. John Dunn, wife of a prominent resident of Block Island, died there Saturday night of heart failure. She had been ailing for the past few days and while the disease was apparently fatal yet her death was entirely unexpected.

CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM.

Its Necessity, Especially in Rhode Island, Pointed Out.

Governor Garvin Gives the First Smoke Talk Before the St. Joseph Holy Name Society.

The first smoke talk of the season under the auspices of the St. Joseph's Holy Naime Society was given Sunday evening in the hall of the Hazard Memorial School, which was crowded with men from all parts of the city. The stage was decorated with plants and a large bouquet stood before the seat reserved for Dr. Garvin, the speaker of the evening. The governor was a little late in arriving, but after his discourse last season an interesting talk was looked for, so the audience cheerfully waited and smoked. Finally the governor arrived, accompanied by Colonel W. P. Clarke of his staff, whose guest he was; Father Deady, City Solicitor J. S. Brown and Representative W. J. Underwood. The party was received with applause and took seats on the stage, where were also the officers of the Holy Name Society, and Messrs. J. E. O'Neill, Lewis Brown, J. E. Leddy, John Gilpin and Rev. Dr. Doran, who acted as chairman and in the absence of Mayor Boyle introduced Governor Garvin with brief remarks.

Governor Garvin said he had been asked to speak on "Constitutional Reform," a subject on which he was pleased to speak, and one to which it was evident he had given much attention. Dr. Garvin has been trying to get a revision or a new constitution for Rhode Island, and has been studying constitutional matters generally, and his remarks were not, as one might imagine, confined to this state. There were of course references to Rhode Island and to this city, but the subject was treated in a broad way. The example of the national and of other state constitutions, and the efforts made elsewhere in this line, were brought before the audience, giving an idea what a constitution is, and what the general plan of constitutional government as arranged and carried out in this country is.

Governor Garvin began by saying that a republican form of government is one in which the sovereignty is vested in the people, who act through elected representatives. In America it means more; it means that there is a written constitution, formed directly by the sovereigns, the people. The nation has such a constitution, and so have most of the states; a few have constitutions that did not come from the people. Among these are Delaware, Virginia and one or two others. Their bad example has not been generally followed.

If we look over the laws we find the first pages devoted to the constitution; all the rest are statute laws, made by the legislature. The constitution is the organic law, made by the people, on which the other laws depend. The order of procedure is first the people, second the constitution, third the legislature. The design was that, as conditions changed from time to time, the constitution should be changed by the people, who are all powerful and who alone can change it. To do this a constitutional convention is called.

We find that in Rhode Island it is difficult to get such a convention, because no matter how strong the demand the legislature does not seem inclined to call it. This can be understood when the conditions are understood. The state senate, which has to pass all acts, is not a representative body. It comprises 38 senators and one lieutenant governor, a total of 39. Twenty makes a majority, and the 20 smallest towns, which hold the majority, have 30,000 people, the population of the whole state being 428,000, so that one twelfth of the population really controls the legislation of the state. Then people are wise enough to hold their power and refuse to call a constitutional convention, which would report a constitution that would give a representative government. Therefore our theory of government is set at naught and the people cannot change the constitution because the proposition cannot be submitted to them.

The constitution when adopted in 1841 was considered a good one, but things have changed. Under the constitution the executive, legislative and judicial powers were supposed to be entirely distinct and separate, but in this state the executive has no power. To have power he should have the appointment of the state officers charged with enforcing the laws. Then he would be directly responsible to the people for the enforcement of the law. As it is, the legislature elects all such officers, and no one is responsible; hence the laws are not enforced. The governor explained how this worked in his appointment of a state factory inspector and commissioner of industrial statistics. The senate did not confirm his appointees, who would have executed the law, and in their places re-elected the old incumbents.

The legislature also controls the judiciary, for it is from the ranks of the legislature that the present judiciary of the state was made up. Thus, instead of having three divisions of the government, each with its own duties and powers, and working together, this state has but one power, the legislature, which does all things just as it pleases. It makes laws that it says cannot be repealed. There are so many defects in the present method of government in this state that amendments to the constitution will not suffice and a constitutional convention is necessary.

Dr. Garvin called attention to the fact that registry voters are not permitted to vote for councilmen in the cities. They had this right from 1883 to 1888, and in looking over the tax budgets of those years he failed to see that the city councils elected since had been any better. As a matter of fact, everyone who pays his bills contributes to the payment of taxes, whether he owns real estate or not.

He referred to local self-government and to the Police Commission here as being an infringement of local rights. He did not know how the Police Commission acts in Newport, but even if it acts all right it is wrong in principle. So also is the practice of the City Council's controlling the police and the license commission, for then the responsibility is divided. The mayor should have charge of both. The people can get at him, and if he does not do right they can get another. The great majority of the people want to see the laws enforced.

Cities should take care of their own local affairs, and all cities in the state should be placed on an even footing. No law should apply to one that does not to another. In some cases cities have what might be called a local constitution, a charter prepared, just as is the constitution, by a representative body of citizens and voted upon by the people. Such a plan is now in effect in several states, and Massachusetts has it. Only under such conditions should the charter or laws in relating to one city differ from another.

For a constitutional convention it is possible to enlist the services of the ablest men in the state, while the same men would not go to the state legislature. In New York state there is a constitutional convention every 20 years. This is because the legislature is unwilling to inaugurate changes, and the people should have control regardless of the legislature. In Utah, South Dakota and Oregon it is possible for an amendment of the constitution to be proposed by five per cent of the voters. It is then voted upon by the people, and if accepted becomes part of the constitution. In Massachusetts 50,000 voters may petition for such an amendment, which must then be submitted to the people without regard to the wishes of the legislature. If Rhode Island has a constitutional convention, the speaker hoped such a clause would be inserted, so that say 50,000 voters could demand a vote on an amendment.

Governor Garvin spoke of the feeling that, after all, the laws do not affect the people as a whole, and said this is a mistake. If special laws greatly help individuals and corporations, why would not proper laws help the whole people? If railroads and electric roads, telephone, telegraph and electric light companies can be greatly benefited by special acts passed for their benefit, why should not the entire people be helped if the laws were passed, as they are supposed to be, for the benefit of all and not of a favored few? He quoted from an article in the Pilgrim, showing the profits secured by the promoters of an electric road, not in Rhode Island, to show what profits are possible from certain kinds of special legislation.

It is not true that your success depends entirely on yourself. You may be sober, industrious and honest, and yet die in the poorhouse. You would be better off if the wealth the nation is making were more honestly distributed among the people who make it, instead of among a few. The first thing necessary to become a happy people is to change the organic law so that this will be possible.

The speaker was repeatedly applauded during his remarks and at the close a rising vote of thanks was given.

Before the address Mr. Thomas B. Connolly sang "The Village Blacksmith" and another song, Professor Connelte accompanying, and afterward Mr. J. J. Butler sang twice, Mr. O'Connor accompanying.

The next smoke talk will be three weeks from last night, when Mr. J. Stacy Brown will speak.

New Secretary of War to Assume Duties in January.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Word has been received at the White House from Governor Taft that he will be here ready to assume his new duties as Secretary of War some time in January.

FUSION WITH LABOR.

Tickets to be Presented in at Least Four Wards, and Perhaps for Assembly Candidates.

The Labor League held its weekly meeting yesterday afternoon, and as a result the leaders feel greatly encouraged and some express themselves as if they felt that they had already grasped success. The attendance at these meetings is constantly growing, and the league anticipates showing a strength of 1,000 at the polls.

The fusion sentiment is said to be rapidly taking shape, and it is announced that there is to be a fusion ticket in four of the five wards. In the Second ward John W. Cillingham, president of the Central Labor Union, is billed to appear upon a ticket to be headed by Alderman William Shepley, but whether this is to be one of the regular party tickets or one introduced by nomination papers cannot be said so far in advance.

In the Third ward fusion with the Republican ticket is anticipated, and in the Fourth and Fifth wards fusion with the Democratic tickets is probable. It is not yet announced who the labor men will be who are to go on these other three tickets, for the party leaders have demanded that names be submitted to them, and up to date a choice has not been made and announced, though it is expected that this will occur within 24 hours. At present fusion in the First ward has not materialized, but there are said to no possibilities there. The league is also talking of fusion on the state representative ticket, or rather having a friend of labor placed upon the Democratic ticket and pledging their support to that ticket in consequence.

THE BUILDERS' TRADES NEW BUILDING SCHEME.

The Builders' Trades Association held another meeting Saturday night, at which their new project of becoming property owners was thoroughly discussed and the plan for financing the scheme was explained. Considerable money has already been subscribed, and it is proposed that every member of the association shall own at least one $100-share. It is also hoped soon to increase the membership to 100. The money for the purchase of the property must be raised by early next month, but the promoters anticipate that there will be no serious difficulty in doing this, as by careful figuring it is estimated that the developed property will have an earning power of over seven per cent, and more under favorable conditions.

The will of Peter Mueller was proved and letters testamentary were granted to Edward T. Treichel. The guardian's first account with the estate of John Overton Choules Ellis was allowed. Charles A. Paine, Claude A. Ball and Adolph T. Vigeneron were appointed appraisers on the estate of Mary E. Talbot. E. C. O'Neill, Thomas Aylsworth and Michael Driscoll were appointed appraisers on the estate of Margaret Murphy. Inventories of the estates of Catherine Boylan, Josephine, Kathleen and Marguerite Manning were allowed. The claim of appeal on the estate of Hannah Shiloh was received and ordered recorded.

Petitions for removal of the guardian of Melville Malcom, and for administration on the estate of Charles E. Harris, were continued for further hearing. The petition for administration de bonis non with the will annexed on the estate of Orleana R. E. Pell was continued to November 2.

PREECE—GOUGH.

John P. Preece of this city and Miss Agnes Smith Gough of New Bedford were married at the rectory of St. Lawrence Church, New Bedford, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. Hugh J. Smythe. The groom was attended by his nephew, George A. Dewick of this city, and the bride by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Gough. The bride wore grey silk crepe over grey silk and the maid of honor wore cern. After the wedding a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, following which the couple left on a wedding trip which will include visits to New York, Philadelphia and Washington. There was a large attendance at the reception, including guests from Halifax, Worcester, Sandwich and Newport. The groom is a member of the Newport Artillery Company.

WASHING BROADWAY.

The present storm has given Broadway a much needed washing, for the pavement has become so coated as to be decidedly slippery on damp days, despite the constant sweeping. This coating does not appear to be touched by anything but a good washing on any kind of pavement, hence a rainstorm saves the city quite a little money on a paved street, while on some of the other roadbeds a hard storm means considerable damage by washing out the surface.

JAMESTOWN.

Sloop Reported Adrift Off Cuttyhunk Believed to be Owned by Albert Oxx of This Town.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

It is feared that the sloop reported drifting seaward by Cuttyhunk Saturday, in a helpless condition, is one that is owned here. She was an old, unseaworthy craft purchased up the river last summer by Albert Oxx, who recently returned from a fishing trip to Block Island in her. Upon his return she was leaking badly and some repairs were made, and a week ago Sunday he started on a fishing trip to Vineyard Haven in her, accompanied by Thomas King of this place and James Mahoney of Newport. Nothing has been heard from them since. They were warned not to make the trip, as it was considered dangerous to put to sea in the craft, which was in very bad condition. Her sails were rotten and they had on board only a small anchor and about 6 fathoms of rope.

Upon learning of the boat which was driven out to sea, Mr. James Oxx, brother of Albert Oxx, telephoned to New Bedford to find out if anything could be learned from there. Nothing was known except that a small sloop with three strangers was there Friday, and is thought to have sailed either Friday afternoon or Saturday. No local boat answering the description was known to be missing. A search was made for the boat by Captain Grinnell of menhaden steamer Arizona. He steamed as far as Gay Head, but could see no traces of the boat, and finding the wind blowing with great violence and the seas terrific abandoned the search.

Revenue cutter Gresham also went out to search for the sloop. She steamed out to the Sow and Pigs' light, but as darkness was coming on and the velocity of the wind increasing Captain Walker saw that further search was useless and returned to port. The Jamestown sloop in which the young men from here sailed was painted white and had a yellow cabin. She had no name.

Mr. W. H. Allen has returned to New York.

Captain Abbott Chandler has sold for H. S. Potter his racehout Peggy to R. P. Tyler of New Haven. The boat will be towed to New Haven soon.

Mr. William Arnold left today for a hunting expedition to Maine. He will make his headquarters at Moosehead lake. Last season he secured two deer, and this year hopes to get a moose.

A tug arrived Saturday and anchored in Dutch Island harbor with two barges. She reported having lost one barge off Montauk point. It was learned later that the barge drifted ashore.

Steamer J. A. Saunders made all her trips Saturday in spite of the storm, and only tied up late Sunday when ordered to do so by the quartermaster, as there was no travel.

THE STORM STILL ON.

The storm still continues. It has had its ups and downs, and its twists and turns, since Saturday afternoon, but the vessels that were then in for a harbor are still here and seem likely to stay.

The Block Island steamer went out Sunday morning and reached Block Island all right, and there she stays. The New York boats have run regularly, but their trips have been stormy. Steamer General left for Wickford Sunday night, got as far as Bishop rock and returned. She did not again venture out until 1:15 this afternoon, so the New York morning and noon mail and today's New York papers had to go around through Providence. The Fort Greble boat has given up all attempts at running until the sea subsides.

The wind has varied from northeast to northwest and has been cold and strong, the thermometer has reached the lowest point since last winter, and the rain has been a frequent visitor. Saturday afternoon and evening, Sunday night and Monday morning, with occasional sprinkles during this period and since. Early this morning it rained hard, and the wind blowing strong from the northwest it was very disagreeable. Some snow fell Sunday, and generally it has been unpleasant. The high wind caused the fall of many apples and other fruit.

The surf at Easton's beach yesterday was not heavy, but at the Second beach it was strong and made a pretty storm scene.

RAILROAD REPAIR SHOPS TO BE MOVED.

An order has been received at South Braintree from the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, announcing that the big repair shops in that town are to be moved to Readville, where they will be consolidated with the extensive plant which has been erected there. There are two shops at South Braintree, each covering about an acre of ground, and over 300 hands have been employed there the year around. The South Braintree shops have been devoted exclusively to the repairing of freight cars and are among the best equipped in the country. They were built about ten years ago and have furnished employment to a large number of men. By their removal to Readville the town will lose one of its biggest industries and many families. The work of shipping the machinery will begin at once.

NEWPORT IN THE NEW ENGLAND BOWLING LEAGUE.

The New England Bowling League, in which Newport will again this winter have a team, will consist of the same teams as last year—Riverpoint, Taunton, Fall River, Newport, Music Hall and Hope. The first matches will be played Thursday evening, the Fall Rivers meeting the Newports in this city, Riverpoints playing at Taunton, and the Music Hall and Hope teams on the latter's alley in Providence. There is a possibility of one or more entries being received at the eleventh hour, and if so arrangements have been made to enter other teams in order to have an even number, the new teams to contest with each other in their opening games. Newport will be represented by a team composed of Messrs. Zarr, Commette, Martin, Sullivan and Farmer, Messrs. Zarr and Farmer being the only members of last year's team.

SALARIES FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Henry Dexter is quoted in the New York Sunday Herald as saying: "Workmen, who lay brick or plaster walls get larger salaries today than cashiers of some banks did years ago." A Newport gentleman on reading this said: "Sure—In 1849 I was receiving teller-paying teller and assistant bookkeeper in a bank, with a salary of $60 per annum. The cashier's salary was $600, and the president had no salary. The same bank is in business today, and the cashier is drawing a better salary."

ABOUT 130 RELEASED.

Over 350 Chinamen Without Registration Certificates Arrested.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Of the 350 or more Chinamen taken into custody here yesterday by United States marshals, immigration officers, Boston inspectors and police, who scoured Boston's Chinatown in search of Celestials who could not produce registration certificates, about 130 were released during last night, through the efforts of friends who placed the requisite papers before the federal authorities. The claim generally made by the arrested men was that their certificates had been lost. The act of Congress governing the matter makes no provision for a man who has lost his certificate, and the police say that most of the arrested men will have to suffer deportation.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

Thomaston Electric Lighting Plant Destroyed by Fire.

THOMASTON, Conn., Oct. 12.—The buildings and machinery of the Thomaston Electric Lighting Company were destroyed by fire today, which is supposed to have originated by spontaneous combustion in a coal shed at the rear of the main building. The loss, estimated at $25,000, is only partly covered by insurance. Included in the plant, which was used for lighting the streets, were a boiler, two engines and three dynamos, all of which were rendered useless.

FORGED A POSTAL ORDER.

Philadelphia Man Delivered to Authorities in Concord, N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 12.—Deputy United States Marshal Peter D. Hehns of Philadelphia delivered to the federal authorities in this city today Lewellyn B. Thompson, who is to be held for the grand jury of the United States court for this district, on the charge of forging a postal order.

The said order was payable to C. B. Taylor and was presented and cashed by Thompson at the postoffice in Troy, this state. Postoffice Inspector W. W. Stone of this city worked up the case, and on his complaint Thompson was arrested last week at his desk in the office of the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, where he was employed as a mailing clerk.

He was given a hearing before United States Commissioner William W. Craig in Philadelphia, and an order for his removal to New Hampshire was issued by Judge McPherson of the United States district court.

TIED UP AT THEIR DOCKS.

Regular Passenger Steamers Not to Leave Portland Before Night.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 12.—Previous to the sailing early today of steamer St. Croix from Boston to Eastport and the provinces all the regular passenger steamers out of this port were tied up at their docks because of the storm. The State of Maine, from the provinces, was not expected to sail for Boston before night. Unless the weather clears none of the other steamers will leave their berths. The Horatio Hall left New York at 5:30 Saturday afternoon, and was expected in Portland late last night. She probably put into some harbor. Among the steamers here in addition to the State of Maine were the Governor Dingley and Bay State, plying between Portland and Boston, the North Star, between Portland and New York, Boothbay steamer Enterprise and Rockland steamer Monhegan.

SENATOR DIETRICH AND ALASKA

Does Not Attach Importance to Reports of Agricultural Prospects.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 12.—U. L. Dietrich, United States Senator from Nebraska and member of the Senate committee on public lands, has arrived here after a four months' visit to Alaska. He does not attach much importance to the glowing reports of Alaska's great agricultural possibilities that have come here for years past. He says that the many thousands of dollars expended at the government agricultural experiment station at Sitka have not established any facts about the agricultural possibilities of the territory that have not been known for 50 years.

CURES CATARRH.

"Hyomei the Most Wonderful Cure for Catarrh Ever Discovered," Says Jas. T. Wright.

Do not try to cure catarrh by taking drugs into the stomach; it cannot be cured in that manner. The only way in which this too common disease can be cured is through a direct application that will kill the bacilli of catarrh and prevent their growth.

Hyomei is the only known method of treatment that accomplishes this. It is the simplest, most pleasant, and the only absolute cure for catarrh that has ever been discovered.

Thousands of unsolicited testimonials have been received from the most prominent men and women in the country who have been cured by this remarkable remedy. Ministers, bankers, lawyers, even eminent physicians have given strong testimonials as to the remarkable powers of Hyomei to cure catarrh.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, consisting of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei to last several weeks. This will effect a cure in ordinary cases, but for chronic and deep-seated cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary, and then extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c. It is not alone the best fit might be called the only) method of curing catarrh, but it is also the most economical.

Jas. T. Wright has so much confidence in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrh, that he will for a limited time sell this medicine under his personal guarantee to refund the money if the purchasers can say that it did not help them.

TO BE RETURNED TO MANILA.

Governor Taft Makes Requisition for Extradition of Inspector of Customs.

MANILA, Oct. 12.—As a result of the investigation of Customs Collector Shuster, Governor Taft has made a requisition upon the Chinese authorities at Shanghai for the extradition of W. D. Ballantine, inspector of customs, arrested there yesterday for alleged complicity in the conspiracy for the issuance of what are suspected to be fraudulent certificates. An officer will leave for Shanghai tomorrow to bring this prisoner back here. The customs authorities have just discovered large quantities of anis seed oil which was billed as tar. Many cases of the oil in this shape have been seized.

Fugitive Defaulters Abandon Their Tugboat for a Larger Vessel.

MANILA, Oct. 12.—When last heard of Herman and Johnson, the fugitive defaulters from the constabulary service, were on their way to the island of Cagayanes. They had abandoned their tugboat at Asya, a small port in Negros, and had gone to Guimbalda, on the southeastern coast of Iloilo, where they secured a large vessel for their trip to Cagayanes. One of the native constabulary was with them, the others being at different places en route. The shortage in cash in the commissary department safe has been fixed at $10,000.

REVIEWED BY DOWIE.

"Restoration Host" Receive Instructions for New York City.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The "restoration host," 3,000 strong, marched in review before John Alexander Dowie at Zion City Sunday. In addressing 6,000 persons in the tabernacle afterward, he declared that those members of Zion who failed to go to New York would wither away and that their prosperity would cease.

"The restoration host" marched into the tabernacle just as it is intended it will file into Madison Square Garden in New York this week. Each crusader wore sashes of yellow, white and blue. Men, women, boys and girls, headed by the captains of the different legions, assembled to hear Dowie give instructions for the New York trip, which begins Wednesday.

Dowie announced that he has now registered 3,018 persons as members of the restoration host. He expects that with those now on their way to New York from other parts of the country the army will have 6,000 members.

DUE TO EDUCATION OF MOTHERS.

Decrease of 60.1 Per Cent in the Death Rate of Chicago Infants.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The death rate of Chicago infants less than one year of age has decreased 60.1 per cent since 1891, while the death rate of persons of all ages has decreased 39.2 per cent in the same 12 years. These statements are made by the weekly bulletin of the health department. Speaking of the causes favorable to the prevention of infant mortality, the bulletin says:

"An improved milk supply, the anti-toxine treatment of diphtheria and other causes often cited to account for the decrease of infant mortality are equally inadequate, and the department is disposed to attach more importance to the education of mothers in the hygiene of the young. The efforts of the women's clubs and similar organizations in this education have been steadily growing during all this period of decreasing infant mortality and it is believed this is the principal factor in giving the baby a better chance for life."

NEW YORK, Oct. 12, Wall Street—The stock market opened weak, with Amalgamated Copper at 36¼, Atchison 62⅝ to 62¾, Baltimore & Ohio 72¼, Brooklyn Transit 32½, Canadian Pacific 118¼, Erie 26⅝, Erie first preferred 65, Louisville 95⅜, Missouri Pacific 87¼, New York Central 115⅜, Ontario & Western 19⅝, Pennsylvania 117¼, Reading 44¾, Rock Island 23¼, Sugar 108½, St. Paul 165⅜, Southern Pacific 39⅝, Southern Railway 17⅛, Union Pacific 98½, United States Steel 15⅜, United States Steel preferred 59, Wabash 17⅛.

10—The stock market opened weak and active with heavy liquidation in United States Steel the feature. The common stock brought 13⅜ for 3,000 shares and on sales of about as much more sagged to 12½. A similar block of the preferred sold at 59 and it also went off an additional quarter, with a subsequent recovery to 59 on a purchase of one block of 5,000 shares. The general market showed losses of from ½ to ¾ per cent.

11—After the early selling orders had been worked off the market showed a little better tone. United States Steel preferred rallied to 59⅝ and Amalgamated rose from 36 to 37. Some of the railroad stocks ruled slightly above Saturday's close. Heavy selling orders in United States Steel preferred broke it again to 58¾, the low record. The common stock held around 13½. Other metal stocks weakened materially, Colorado Fuel dropping 5¼, Sloss-Sheffield Steel preferred 4, Railway Steel Spring preferred 6¼, American Car preferred and General Electric 3½ and Republic Steel preferred 3. Standard stocks gradually yielded under the influence of this liquidation and Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, Pennsylvania, Reading and Illinois Central lost 1 and Southern Railway preferred 2¼. Pullman exceptionally gained 2 points.

Noon—Money on call, steady, at 2½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5 @ ½ per cent. The market showed little evidence of rallying power and traders extended their short lines in all directions. Interest was focused on United States Steel stocks and a steady stream of offerings forced them gradually lower, the common breaking to 12½ and the preferred to 57½. The general list fell again in sympathy, but got only slightly lower than before. There were violent declines in some of the inactive specialties. Minneapolis & St. Louis and New York Air Brake dropped 12, Great Northern preferred 10, United Fruit 5, International Pump preferred 4, Southern Railway preferred, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie preferred 3, Northwestern 3½, Woolen preferred 2½ and Car preferred 5. Bonds were irregular.

Question Now Arises, How the Recent Revelations Are to Affect the Small Investor.

[New York Post.]

The bitter cry of Wall Street for some months past has been that "confidence" was being undermined by some wicked man, or men. Many Nathan-like voices have reproachfully said to President Roosevelt, "Thou art the man!" The moment, it has been asserted, that the government brought the Northern Securities suit, capital took fright, the erstwhile simple-hearted and confiding investor received a "chill," the crops took to doing badly, and the great captains of industry—such as the builders of yachts and automobiles for stock brokers and promoters—began to set their houses in order. It was a beautiful theory—so clear, so closely knit in logic, so comforting after its melancholy fashion. We fear, however, that a rival explanation is likely to come into vogue after the revelations in the United States Shipbuilding suit, by means of which the screen was thrown down and the public was permitted to see promoting as she is really promoted. Confidence would have to be a peculiarly hardy growth not to be shaken by the scandalous spectacle.

The testimony of Mr. Dresser disclosed a shocking state of affairs. It showed how character had been wrecked as well as values. Seldom can there have been uncovered a more vulgar conspiracy to pluck or shear the investing public—goose or lamb. The vendors of "salted" mines are entitled to hold up their heads, compared with the discovered tricksters. Their moral fraud was most unblushing. To be both purchaser and seller, to have a pool within a pool, and an agreement behind an agreement, and, at the same moment that a lying prospectus was issued to the public, to fleece the investor even before he invested—that is the kind of thing in which supposedly honest men were engaged. What the law will say about their transactions we must wait to see. It is certain that under such a company's net as England has, the whole proceeding would have been set aside by the courts, and the promoters compelled to disgorge their concealed profits.

On the moral aspect of the matter, however, every intelligent man is competent to pronounce judgment. His verdict will be that the methods practised were no more reputable than those of the common sharper. Nearly every element of indecent cheating appears to have been present, while the attempt to hoodwink and bleed the public could not have been more unblushing. But what we ask is, How is all this going to affect the small investor the country over? Is his confidence to be restored by the publication of such schemes to rob him? Is he likely to come trooping back to Wall Street, and help lift a sagging market, when he sees the snares laid to catch his feet? As destroyers of confidence, it appears to us certain that those who have most lamented its destruction outstrip all possible rivals.

Mr. Dresser's startling evidence has an instructive bearing on the vexed question of "Wall Street morality." We have had paraded before us the "vast transactions depending entirely upon good faith"; the scrupulous fulfilment of contracts; the word as good as a bond, and all that. It is all wonderful and admirable, no doubt, but it touches only the superficies of real morals. What lies beneath? Shall a man boast of living up to an agreement when, behind it, there is a secret and dishonorable understanding? The morality which is really required in Wall Street, and which the recent revelations make to appear so lamentably wanting in at least certain financial circles, is of the kind which insists upon good faith and open and fair dealing through and through. It is not enough to meet your obligations at the bank, or to deliver stock as agreed; you must beware of underhanded plots and of striking hands in the dark to make a swollen and greedy personal profit out of the company in which you are urging the thrifty to put their small savings; you must give the humblest outside investor the same rights as yourself, the knowing insider, or else all your trumpeted morality is as a sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.

There will be many to say that confidence ought to be destroyed, if it has been confidence in such unscrupulous promoting as we have now seen laid bare. Justified confidence in the country's stable prosperity is one thing; the other is not confidence, but a confidence game. We suspect that people in general will view with a good deal of cheerful resignation the slow sinking to the ground of the grossly inflated financial balloons. Upon really sound business the effect cannot be harmful. Nor can its moral influence be anything but wholesome. Men will say, with a good deal of justified complacency: "Well, it is a good thing to have this bubble burst. Wild dreams of making millions overnight will no longer demoralize our young men. The day of the steady worker in regular business will come again; and the professional man on a small income will not be so much tempted to envy the prosperity of the wicked. Confidence in legitimate enterprise and in honesty and high-mindedness is, after all, better than confidence in the conjurers and the conspirators of boomed and bursted combinations." That some of the men in the glow of promotion were as credulous as any member of the long-eared public that ever chased a financial rainbow, will be believed by those who read the extraordinary correspondence, relating to the underwriting of the shipbuilding company, which we publish today.

CAME THROUGH THE FLOOD DISTRICT.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Peckham are back from a trip to Minnesota and other parts of the West. In returning through New York state they were a trifle delayed by the floods, largely because of submerged tracks and the necessity of proceeding slowly to save their fires as well as to prevent running on some insecure piece of track. They saw water on all sides of them five and six feet deep, and as much as that in the streets of some cities through which they passed. In the farming districts they saw great stretches of water, practically unbroken except now and then by a hay barn or stack protruding above the surface.

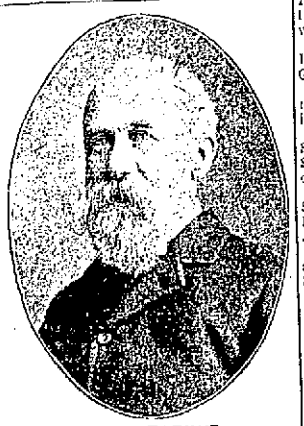

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Dr. Barker for Mayor and John M. Taylor for City Treasurer.

Messrs. Peckham, Cottrell, Bradley and Wheatland Named for the School Committee.

The Republican city convention for the nomination of candidates for mayor, city treasurer and four members of the School Committee, Saturday evening, performed its duty with the utmost harmony, nominating Dr. Christopher F. Barker for mayor, John M. Taylor for city treasurer, and Thomas P. Peckham, Robert C. Cottrell, Frederick Bradley and Marcus P. Wheatland for school committeemen to serve three years from January 1 next.

There was a good-sized number of spectators in the representatives' chamber at the State House when the convention was called to order by Thomas H. Congdon, secretary of the Republican city committee. The first business was the election of a temporary chairman. Robert S. Burlingame was nominated by Colonel William P. Sheffield, Jr., and there being no opposition Mr. Burlingame was elected. On taking the chair he said he much preferred to take a seat with the delegates, and as the duties of presiding officer were new to him he hoped that the convention would be lenient. He expressed his appreciation of the kindness the delegates had shown in choosing him to preside, and said that he had the welfare and highest interest of the city at heart and hoped they would be materially advanced and the Republican party be strengthened and maintained.

DR. C. F. BARKER.
Nominated by Republicans for Mayor.

The temporary organization was made permanent, and on motion of Colonel Sheffield a recess of ten minutes was taken and the delegates returned to the senate chamber. The ten minutes developed into nearly half an hour, and when the convention re-assembled, the call for the convention was read and the chairman asked for nominations for mayor.

Mr. Tanner nominated Dr. Christopher F. Barker, the nomination was seconded by Colonel Sheffield, and Dr. Barker was made the nominee of the convention by a unanimous vote, the announcement being greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Harry Alger was chosen temporary secretary, and the delegates presented their certificates. There were a few vacancies, David Brannan of the First ward delegation was absent, and the vacancy was not filled. Ex-Mayor Frederick P. Garrettson of the Third ward sent word that he was unable, on account of illness, to attend, and William O. Milne was elected to the vacancy. Gustave H. Blom of the Fourth ward delegation was absent and Robert H. McIntosh was elected to fill the vacancy.

The convention was finally made up as follows:

First ward—Joseph B. Pike, Harry Alger, Louis H. Raymond, Samuel H. Norris.

Second ward—Benjamin F. Tanner, Robert S. Burlingame, James Hall, John T. Haire, Thomas J. Gibson.

Third ward—William P. Sheffield, Jr., Charles A. Brackett, H. J. Tolbert, G. H. Draper, William O. Milne.

Fifth ward—James McLeish, John Mahan, James Brown, David McIntosh, Robert H. Purshall.

Mr. Tanner nominated John M. Taylor for city treasurer, and the nomination was seconded by John Mahan. There was no opposition, and Mr. Taylor was the nominee of the convention.

Mr. Tanner nominated in succession for members of the School Committee Messrs. Thomas P. Peckham, Robert C. Cottrell, Dr. Frederick Bradley and Dr. Marcus F. Wheatland, and they were unanimously made the nominees of the convention.

The chairman and secretary were made a committee to notify the candidates of their selection and the city committee was authorized to fill any vacancy that may occur, and the convention adjourned.

Dr. Christopher F. Barker, the nominee for mayor, is a native of Middletown but has spent the greater part of his life in Newport. He studied in the Newport schools, graduating from the old high school in 1871 and from Brown University in 1875. After studying medicine with the late Dr. Samuel W. Butler and at the University of the City of New York, he began practice in this city in 1878, and has been for several years among the recognized heads of the profession in Newport. He is chairman of the School Committee and a member of the Board of Health, having been for several years chairman of the latter body; is surgeon of the Newport Artillery, and admitting surgeon of the Newport Hospital. Dr. Barker has been a member of the state board of health and is a prominent member of the Rhode Island Medical Society. He is a member of St. Paul's Lodge, No. 14, A. F. and A. M., of Washington Commandery, Knights Templar, and of Coronet Council, Royal Arcanum.

John M. Taylor, the nominee for city treasurer, is a life-long resident of Newport, and well known in business, fraternal and church circles. He holds a responsible position with the A. C. Titus Company, having for many years been employed by the firm which preceded it in the furniture business. Mr. Taylor is senior warden and treasurer of Emmanuel Church, treasurer of Rhode Island Lodge, No. 12, I. O. O. F., and collector of Coronet Council, No. 63, Royal Arcanum. In these positions he has made a wide circle of acquaintances, who recognize his business ability and adaptability for the position to which he has been nominated. He has never held a civic office.

Three of the nominees for School Committee—Messrs. Peckham, Cottrell and Bradley—are members of the present board, their three-year terms expiring January 1 next, and each has shown his fitness for the position. The fourth nominee, Dr. Marcus F. Wheatland, takes the place in the present delegation of Mr. Clark Burdick, who declined a renomination. Dr. Wheatland is a representative colored man who has won a high place in his profession, that of the practice of medicine, not only among his colleagues in this city and state but throughout the country, his work with the X rays and in electro-therapeutics being recognized as of the highest character. He has read papers on these subjects before national and state medical associations and written extensively in the medical journals.

DEMOCRATIC DELEGATES.

Few Voters in Any Ward Caucus. But a Full List Sent to the City Convention.

Saturday evening the Democratic caucuses to elect delegates to the City convention, which will nominate candidates for mayor, city treasurer and School Committee were held in the several wards. The delegates elected were:

FUNERAL OF MRS. BOYLE.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Bridget Boyle was held this morning from St. Mary's Church, which was well filled by friends of the deceased, old and young, who had gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to the dead. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Father Meenan, with Rev. Dr. Austin Bowling as deacon, Rev. Father Cronan as sub-deacon and Rev. Father Reddy as master of ceremonies. Father Meenan read the funeral service, and at its close spoke briefly and touchingly on death and the preparations that should be made for it, and offered the example of the life just closed as one to be imitated by those who would wish, when the parting hour comes, to feel prepared, as well as mortal can be, to meet his Maker.

The bearers were John J. Nolan, James B. Cottrell, John Murray, Thomas Dowd, John Connolly and Thomas Boyle. The interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

During the service Mr. Thomas B. Connolly sang "When the Mists Have Passed Away," and "Only Waiting."

THE VOYAGE OF THE TORPEDO FLOTILLA.

The forthcoming voyage of the torpedo boat destroyers to Manila will be watched with much interest by the whole naval world, for it is an experiment the like of which has not hitherto been attempted by any naval power. The success of the experiment will assure the Navy Department that if necessary our fleets in any part of the world can be strengthened by these craft with the same certainty as with larger vessels, and it will give the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station a much needed augmentation of his forces. The little fleet will be under the command of Lieutenant L. H. Chandler, U. S. N., who has been tireless in the advocacy of sending these vessels as far afield as their services may require.

The flotilla will consist of the Decatur, Lieutenant L. H. Chandler; Bainbridge, Lieutenant G. W. Williams; Barry, Lieutenant N. E. Irwin; Chauncey, Lieutenant S. E. Moses, and Dale, Lieutenant H. I. Cone. The boats are at the Norfolk navy yard being prepared for their long voyage, on which they will start November 1.

THE GALE AT BLOCK ISLAND.

Steamer New Shoreham Finally Succeeds in Landing Supplies, for the First Time Since Tuesday.

The northeast gale that has been sweeping over the middle Atlantic coast since Thursday night continues to rage over Block Island, and the little hope entertained for the storm's abating was given up when it broke loose again Sunday afternoon. In the early morning the clouds cleared away to the southward, and the high winds diminished a trifle, and gave every indication of an abatement. Shortly after noon the howling wind and pelting rain again swept across the island with renewed vigor. The wind and rain has made it one of the worst gales ever experienced at Block Island. The agitation of the sea has modified somewhat, though the surf is still pounding with tremendous force on the north coast.

Steamer New Shoreham, which was to arrive Thursday afternoon with mail and other supplies for the island, reached Block Island Sunday morning, after encountering a rough sea outside Newport harbor. The steamer left Long wharf about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, and after being tossed about considerably in the turbulent sea, finally reached her dock at the new harbor shortly before 8 a. m.

No mail or provisions had been received at the island since Tuesday, the last day the boat arrived, and while no suffering for lack of beef was endured the situation was beginning to look serious for the inhabitants of the island. It was while the wind had moderated in its violence Sunday morning that Captain Lemuel Dodge decided to make a second attempt to land his few passengers, and the steamer's cargo of supplies.

The New Shoreham was sighted about 7 o'clock rounding Point Judith, and few persons expected that the craft, which was rolling and pounding on the waves, was their belated steamer. Though Captain Dodge's ability to bring the craft into harbor safely is highly regarded, it was not thought the steamer would be forced to stand the strain of the elements. But she made the trip in record time, in spite of the fact that she was using only one of her two boilers. After getting out well into the sea, the steamer had clear sailing, and the northeaster forced her toward the island at a tremendous speed. Captain Dodge said his boat behaved finely, and never caused him to doubt but the attempt would be successful after he had passed safely out of Newport harbor.

Several tons of beef which were consigned to dealers on the island were taken ashore in good condition, the cargo having been consigned to the steamer's huge ice chest at the dock at Newport, after Captain Dodge had abandoned the trip to the island Thursday afternoon, when the steamer returned to Newport after rounding Brenton's Reef lightship, and it was seen to be too dangerous to continue further. Words of praise for Captain Dodge and his crew were expressed on all sides at the island for his successful efforts to relieve the people of further anxiety occasioned by the steamer's absence.

Last night the storm appeared to have increased in violence. The wind, which had shifted well around to the north, was piercing and caused great discomfort.

REV. DR. BASS'S SUCCESS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Providence District correspondent of Zion's Herald writes that Rev. Dr. E. C. Bass has been successful in meeting the conditions with which he was confronted on assuming the pastorate of the Tabernacle Church last spring. The defection in membership was not only stopped, but the congregations of late are increased at least 20 per cent. The courage of the church is greatly improved, and it is certain that the community feels more respect for the house of worship. Some of this is due to the improved condition of the church property.

Following the latter an address will be given by Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham, on "New England Congregationalism and Religious Development," and Rev. A. J. AGAINST CHEAP CAB FARES.

Demands Upon Newport Hackmen and Heavy Expenses Would Not Warrant a Reduction.

To the Editor of the News:

Dear Sir: At a time when labor and materials, cost of living and every conceivable expense has advanced almost beyond precedent, we find certain parties agitating the reduction of cab fares 50 per cent. For this various reasons are quoted by persons who write only over a "nom de plume." During the two summers, (some time ago, by the way) when the writer was employed as a driver, by the late William T. Bowler, he generally found that people who wanted 25-cent cabs were just 25-cent people, neither more nor less. Probably the parties above mentioned have this in mind when writing to the papers.

Comparisons are often odious, but they are useful as well; so let us make some. Cab fares in New York and Boston are higher than in Newport, and those cities enjoy good business the "year around" as compared with Newport's four months. Neither have they any percentages to pay for station and wharf privileges, those being usually reserved for the large stables. Boston some time ago established a line of 25 cent cabs, called herdics, which did not pay. A few yet remain, but they are forlorn, and seldom do people with fine clothes care to ride in them.

Fall River and Taunton have each some hacks running for 25-cent fares. They consist chiefly of dilapidated vehicles, with harnesses tied up with strings, and the most decrepid horses conceivable. They are usually driven by tatterdemallions, with pipes in their mouths, the whole equipage making a sore of "Antiques and Horribles" appearance that would never do for Newport.

One of Newport's largest stables tried the cheap cab business years ago, with a result too well known to the business community to require mention here. Another one is still doing business with one horse, and is said to be unable to buy new fenders for his cab.

If four men ride from the depot to the Perry House and pay $2 they may think some one is making money out of them. But the hack may have waited hours for the train, and his next call might be for two or three fares to the Pinard cottages, and each passenger have a trunk to be carried free, and all for 50 cents a fare.

Our visitors, and the Newport people as well, are fastidious. They want a decent appearing driver, preferably in livery, and a strong horse (or horses), a bright, clean harness and a carriage that has been recently painted and overhauled, so that the whole shall make a good appearance on the street. It matters not whether it be day or night, or whether calling or shopping or going to a train, these conditions are insisted upon. And they cost money. Patrons of Newport's cabs will not ride in a disreputable old trap, either for half-fare, or for no fare at all. If they require these things they should pay for them.

Hackmen have not only expenses of maintenance to overcome but a severely heavy tax for standing at the railroad stations and steamboat wharves, a tax so heavy that it would take a great many 25-cent fares to pay it.

Gentlemen, keep on trying. You may get an occasional gold brick, but 50 cents' worth of labor for 25 cents, or a gold dollar for 50 cents, are found only on the rarest occasions.
